LEO'S FUNERAL ON SATURDAY

Preparations Being Made for Burial of the Pontiff.

WILL LIE IN STATE

Public Will Be Allowed to View the Remains for Three Days at St. Peter's.

SOLEMN SERVICES IN ROME

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

Rome, July 21.—The body of Pope Leo XIII. lies tonight in the hall of the throne room, a few steps from the room in which his death took place. The same vestments, the comauro hood, the rochet and the white gown which were put on yesterday cover the form, which rests in semi-state, surrounded by the lighted candles, the noble guard and Franciscan penitentiaries.

Tomorrow morning the diplomatic body, the high dignitaries and the Roman aristocracy will enter the hall to pay their tributes of respect to all that remains of the pope, who won the respect and affection of the world. In the afternoon the body will be arrayed in all the glory of the pontifical robes, the mitre replacing the hood, and at sunset it will be taken into the chapel of the sacrament of St. Peter's, where for three days the public will be given an opportunity of paying a last farewell. The interment will take place Saturday evening.

Today was notable for the impressive ceremonial of the recognition of the death of the pope in the morning in the chamber in which he died. Thereafter only those were admitted who were concerned in the embalming of the body, an operation which occupied six hours.

Preparing for the Burial.

Meantime the authorities of the vatican proceeded with the preparations for the funeral and the conclave and the acknowledgment of the condolences which had been received. Among the latter was a notable message from the German emperor.

Throughout the day the vatican was surrounded by crowds which increased toward night. Several thousand people entered St. Peter's at vespers and joined in prayer for the departed. Among these were many Italian officers, whose troops shortly after sunset were marched from the vatican back to their barracks. At no time had their services been needed.

It is not the custom in Italy to wear the conventional emblems of mourning, hence the crowd which, in consequence of the closing of many places of business, wanders the streets tonight has more the appearance of an aimless holiday-making throng than one sorrowing for the death of the pope.

Hundreds Prayed in Churches.

Into nearly all the churches, however, hundreds not often seen in places of devotion flocked to vespers to say a hurried prayer. Afterward they loitered outside reading the deep black-edged proclamations of Cardinal Respighi, the vicar of Rome, concerning the funeral arrangements, the meeting of the conclave and the church ceremonies.

The quiet of the evening was broken by a chorus such as the world has seldom heard. On the stroke of 8 all of Rome's 400 churches commenced to toll bells for the passing of the soul of Pope Leo XIII. From the Seven Hills and from every quarter of the city which contained churches came the constant clang until all was one vast reverberation. The harsh jingle of the smaller chapel bells striking quickly and more often was not drowned by the solemn strokes that came in mourning measures from the great dome of St. Peter's. It was as if a great fire raged and every bell in Rome was vieing was every other in anxiety to warn the populace. Except in its common motive and common sorrow it was an amazing discord, which continued an hour, and which will recur nightly until the obsequies are over.

Building Temporary Tomb.

Inside the magnificent church of St. Peter today could be heard the sound of the hammer and chisel, already preparing Leo's temporary tomb. A massive wooden platform had been rolled into the basilica, reaching half way to the ceiling to the left of the nave. Around this rough staging stood a gaping crowd watching half a dozen swarthy workmen prepare the niche wherein Leo's coffin will soon rest.

High above the niche they had driven into the solid masonary three enormous steel hooks, from which the tackle will be operated to hoist the coffin into place. The resting place for the casket is a marble slab 15 feet above the pavement, forming the upper casement of one of the massive doors. On either side are great marble cupids, while the light comes dimly from above through two domes surrounded by exquisite mosaics, one showing the apostles and saints, and the other an angelic chorus. The workmen pounded and called out their commands, in strange contrast with the solemn surroundings.

The interior of the church was at yet undraped with mourning. The massive crimson hangings had been removed, bringing out the ghastly whiteness of the colossal marble nave. At the further end could be seen groups of priests, kneeling about the tomb of St. Peter, where scores of little tapers burn unceasingly.

Before the altar is a very narrow space, where Leo's coffin will be deposited when it comes from the vatican. This space is so small that the foot of the casket will come to the iron trellace. The purpose of this arrangement is to carry out the ancient ceremony by which the actual foot of the dead pontiff will extend through the iron barriers, to permit the kneeling faithful to approach and kiss

BITTER FIGHT FOR NEW POPE

Cunning Politicians Open Campaign at the Vatican.

WAR AGAINST GOTTI

Candidate to Succeed Leo Is Confronted With Family History.

HIS BROTHER IS A CONVICT

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

Rome, July 21.—The campaign for the succession to Leo is proceeding vivaciously. The cardinals are not taking open part, but their adherents are alive. The opponents of Gotti's candidature in their effort to defeat the man favored by the triple alliance are circulating the story that Gotti's brother has been in prison in Genoa for the past five years for wounding with intent to commit robbery and murder.

Agents are looking up the records of the various candidates for the papacy, just as is done in a campaign in France or the United States. The kaiser is reported as furious at the efforts to defeat Gotti because he hopes to obtain the protectorate for Christians in the Orient for the triple alliance during the pontificate of Gotti. Baron de Rotenham, German ambassador to the vatican, has used every influence to prevent the publication of the fact that Gotti's brother is a convict.

Foreign officials at Rome are unable to understand how the facts that Gotti comes of a humble family and his brother has been convicted of a crime can be twisted into an insuperable obstacle to the cardinal's election, although it is a fact that none but cardinals of noble Italian families have been elected to the papacy for 200 years.

All the 19 ambassadors accredited to the vatican are busy today forwarding the interests of various candidates. The great religious orders are exercising much influence. It is believed the friends of Gotti and Rampolla have arrived at an understanding by which the latter's adherents would vote for Gotti in return for which he would make Rampolla prefect of the propaganda. It is probable the disclosures about Gotti's brother will affect the combination.

It is a curious fact that the paralysis of Cardinal Svampa helps his candidacy. Most of the members of the college are believed to prefer a short-lived pope. Svampa is a Republican Federalist. He is the only cardinal using an automobile. All the other Italian cardinals, when visiting, drive in funereal carriages. Venerable cardinals fear that Svampa, if elected pope, would cease to be a theoretical prisoner in the vatican and might go motoring in Italy. Svampa makes pastoral visits in an auto.

The first outside cardinal to arrive in Rome is Prisco, of Naples. His adherents are supporting Rampolla. Cardinal Gibbons is expected to arrive Thursday. The pope being dead, etiquette no longer prohibits the cardinals meeting and discussing the election. They are making the most of their newly-acquired liberty.

The first pontifical act of the cardinals today was the appointment of Archbishop Merry Delval to be secretary of the conclave. This is significant, for he is half a foreigner, his mother being an English woman. Delval represented Leo at the queen's jubilee. He is president of the academy for noble ecclesiastics and will be cardinal immediately after the election of the pope. Delval's appointment as secretary is taken to mean that it brings a foreign cardinal a step nearer the papacy. The coronation of the new pope does not take place until November.

MARQUIS DE CASTELLANE.

HAIL PELTS CHICAGO.

Stones an Inch in Diameter Cause Runaways and Break Many Windows.

CHICAGO, July 21.—(Special.)—At noon today Chicago was battered by the worst hailstorm in its history. The disturbance was local, spending its force on the business district and the immediate North Side. During the fall of hail, some of which were an inch in diameter, there were probably 100 runaways, causing great consternation.

Bessie Jilovie, 2 years old, was crushed to death beneath a piano blown from the hands of movers, and Harry Temm was killed by a bolt of lightning while standing on a street corner. Several persons sustained fractures of arms and legs. Most of these injuries were caused by runaway horses or by timbers hurled into the streets by the wind. Windows of buildings on the east side of many streets from the river north to Maple street, were riddled.

Big plate glass show windows were shivered. Many awnings were torn to shreds. Flower beds in the parks were cut down and ruined. Conservatories suffered heavily, many of them coming off with not a single pane of glass left.

MARSHALL, MO., July 21.—A terrific wind and rain storm visited this city today, resulting in much damage to property. The tent of Evangelist Munhall was blown down, just after the congregation had been dismissed. Maj. Randolph, colored, was killed by a live wire. The opera house and many other buildings were badly damaged and much damage was done in the country.

RICH PLACER STRUCK BY INDIANS ON JULY FOURTH

TACOMA, WASH., July 21.—(Special.)—Dawson Charlie and another Indian made an important placer strike July 4, on two creeks tributary to the Alsek river, nearly 100 miles from White Horse, Yukon territory. They named the stream Fourth of July and Ruby creeks, starting then for White Horse for more grub. The yield is 25 cents to the pan from the start. Verification of the strike reached White Horse last week causing a stampede for the diggings.

Seems To Have Gone the Way of the Other Old-Timer.

REPORT AGAIN GOING THAT SCHWAB IS OUT

Unconfirmed Rumor Afloat That His Resignation Becomes Effective August 1.

Reports were current in Pittsburgh yesterday that Charles M. Schwab would cease to be president of the United States Steel corporation on August 1. It was said that his resignation had been tendered, to be effective on that date, or would be tendered within the next few days.

Efforts to verify the report in Pittsburgh were unavailing. Several men usually well versed in the affairs of the steel corporation were asked about the report. They admitted hearing the rumor, but were themselves in doubt as to its authenticity.

Judge J. H. Reed, a director of the corporation, disclaimed all knowledge of the report. "I have no information as to its truth," he said.

Much interest was aroused by the rumors. Mr. Schwab's illness and his disappearance from public view, following the appointment of W. E. Corey as his assistant, added to the number of those who credited the report.

It was said yesterday that the presidency of the steel corporation would probably fall upon the shoulders of Mr. Corey in case Mr. Schwab should resign.

FRIGHT MADE HIM ILL.

Connecticut Alderman Rode in Circus Parade in a Den of Lions.

MERIDEN, CONN., July 21.—(Special.)—Alderman Rogers is ill from nervous strain he underwent yesterday in riding in a den of lions during the parade of a circus here. He made the trip on a wager, but says he would not do it again for $1,000. One of the lions has a record of six men killed.

"When I entered the cage," said Mr. Rogers, "I had my nerve with me, but when those lions began to smell around I lost some of it. I had a heavy cane, with which I rapped them across the nose occasionally to keep up their respect, and I also had a revolver ready in case of trouble."

Before the alderman was permitted to enter the cage he had to sign a release in the presence of a notary that he would not attempt to hold the circus for damages in case the lions attacked him.

WILL STUDY METHODS IN THE UNITED STATES

BERLIN, July 21.—(Special Cable.)—In his speech at Osnabrueck, Westphalia, the Prussian Minister of Commerce Moeller said in part: "It is my intention next year to send a committee to the United States where we can learn much more than in any other country. Our mechanics ought to study American conditions and methods, and especially now we ought to arrange the training of apprentices. Our methods are useless and antiquated. We ought to build industrial schools and I shall ask men whom I shall send to America in the spring to visit all institutions of this kind."

STEEL CORPORATION ASKS FOR CANADIAN CHARTER

TORONTO, ONT., July 21.—(Special.)—On behalf of the Steel Corporation, Johnson & Falconbridge, have filed an application for a provincial charter. The site will be at Port Colborne and the capital $2,000,000. The plant will, when completed, turn out daily 1,200 tons of finished product.

WATERFRONT PROMENADE FREE TO NEW YORK PUBLIC

NEW YORK, July 21.—(Special.)—In the plans for the development of the Central Railroad of New Jersey dock facilities at the foot of Liberty street, which involves the expenditure of $1,000,000, the public is to have a free water front promenade, modeled after similar promenades in Antwerp and Copenhagen.

RUSSIAN SQUADRON IS TO BE REINFORCED

ST. PETERSBURG, July 21.—Eleven torpedo boats will leave Cronstadt July 28 to reinforce the Russian Pacific squadron.

FORMER OPPONENT FOR ROOSEVELT THIS TIME

Titus Sheard of Little Falls, N. Y., Assures President of His Election.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

OYSTER BAY, L. I., July 21.—President Roosevelt received today a visit from Titus Sheard of Little Falls, N. Y. Mr. Shread is out of politics now, but he referred to the fact that he had defeated Mr. Roosevelt, then 28 years old, for election as speaker of the house at Albany in 1884.

"But I wouldn't try to beat him now," said Mr. Sheard today. Further than this he said:

"I had a pleasant visit at Sagamore Hill and made it the occasion to assure the president that he would not only have the support of the New York delegation to the Republican national convention, but would carry the state against any candidate the Democrats can put forth."

"The large life insurance companies can be counted, can they not, as among those corporate interests favorable to the president's re-election?" was asked.

"Yes," replied Mr. Sheard. "All conservative business interests favor President Roosevelt. There are some interests in Wall street which think they have been kicked and are opposed to him. But Wall street won't fight against public opinion very long."

DRESSER IN TROUBLE.

He Is Charged With Conversion of Bonds Belonging to Sister of C. W. Mayer.

NEW YORK, July 21.—(Special.)—An echo of the shipyard crash was heard today when counsel for Mr. Dresser obtained an order from Judge Adams staying an order for the arrest of his client.

When Dresser, at that time the head of the silk firm of Dresser & Co., and president of the Trust Company of the Republic, went to France with John W. Young, the projector of the shipyard combination, and C. W. Mayer, to float a portion of the stock of the Shipbuilding Company, they found themselves in need of cash. Dresser also learned that his silk house needed money. He mentioned this fact to Mr. Mayer, who, it is said, turned over 50 $1,000 Mexican railway bonds to Mr. Dresser.

It is now asserted that Dresser has returned neither the bonds nor their value, and Miss Mary Mayer, the original holder, charges Mr. Dresser with conversion. He must give bonds for $50,000 within five days.

AN EMPHATIC ANSWER.

Counter Charge Made by Union Railroad in Quo Warranto Proceedings.

HARRISBURG, July 21.—Attorney General Carson this afternoon heard argument in the application for a writ of quo warranto made by the Windsor Glass Company of Pittsburgh, to cite the Union Railroad Company into court, to show cause why its franchises should not be forfeited. It is alleged that the railroad company forfeits its rights because it refuses to carry passengers.

The railroad company in answer declares that it exercises all the duties of a carrying company and alleges that the action is meant to force it to purchase the glass company's property.

Few Were Public Charges.

NEW YORK, July 21.—The immigration authorities today made public a report for six months ending June 30, showing the number of immigrants that were public charges. The total arrivals were 401,057; total number applying for relief, 580; percentage of total arrivals who applied for relief .14.

Cost of Brigade Encampment.

HARRISBURG, July 21.—(Special.)—It was announced this afternoon that the first brigade will receive $45,881 94 for encampment salaries. This makes a total of $97,737 57 paid the first and third brigades for their annual outings.

Ohio Village Burning.

FINDLAY, O., July 21.—Arcadia, a village of 3,500 inhabitants, is reported burning. The Findlay fire department has been asked for assistance.

PORTO RICANS PROTEST AGAINST HEAVY TAXES

All Stores at Juana Diaz Closed and Hostile Demostrations Are Made.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]
(Copyright, 1903, by New York Herald Co.)

SAN JUAN, PORTO RICO, July 21.—Every business place in Juana Diaz has been closed indefinitely and will remain shut, the owners declare, until there is a reduction of the taxes recently imposed upon them by the municipal authorities.

Much inconvenience to citizens has resulted, as the nearest base of supplies is Ponce, several miles away.

Residents of Manati are also in a protesting mood. Acting Governor Hartsell reinstated Mayor Ramos, who had been suspended under charges by Gov. Hunt, but who was acquitted on trial in the Arecibo district court.

To show their contempt for the acting governor the anti-Ramos men marched about the town carrying black flags with the stars and stripes. They also floated black flags over their residences and places of business. Mayor Ramos laughed at the crowd from a balcony, but for two days bloodshed was feared.

LONE WATCHER IN TOWER ATTACKED BY A MANIAC

Operator, However, Telegraphed for Aid and Fought Until Rescued.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 21.—A locomotive with a detail of policemen saved John Deringer, a switch operator at Taber station, from being overpowered and probably severely injured by a maniac. He was suddenly confronted by a man, who yelled: "Four men back there in the woods want to kill me." He grappled with Deringer as he spoke.

The operator, unable to shake off his assailant, managed to drag himself and the maniac to the telegraph instrument, and sent a message for help to Wayne Junction. Elwinger telephoned to the Germantown police and a locomotive with the bluecoats sped to Taber. They rescued Deringer, who was pinned to the wall by the maniac. The man told Magistrate Fitzpatrick this morning that he was Ashman P. Powers of Chicago, and still pleading for protection from his imaginary foes, he was taken to the Philadelphia hospital. CHESTER D. POTTER.

POPE LEO'S WILL OPENED AND EXECUTOR NAMED

ROME, July 21.—(Special Cable.)—Cardinal Oreglia, in the presence of Major Domo Cagnano and the noble guard, opened Leo XIII.'s testament regarding the private affairs and read it through. The executors are Cardinals Rampolla, Mocenni and Cretoni. These were summoned this evening to the apartments of Cardinal Oreglia, where the contents of the testament was communicated to them. It will also be communicated to the public, but the pope's political and religious testaments will only be communicated to the members of the sacred college.

GRIEVES OVER PONTIFF AND ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 21.—(Special.)—Grieved by the news of the pope's death, Mrs. Ellen Carrier, an elderly woman, who is a devout Roman Catholic, pondered over the sad announcement until her mind became unhinged. This morning she tried to kill herself by taking a spoonful of rat poison after reading the details of the pontiff's death. She will recover.

PITTSBURGH BIDDERS TO GET FILTER CONTRACT

RAHWAY, N. J., July 21.—(Special.)—The board of water commissioners today opened bids for the filtration plant. The bidders were W. B. Scaife Son & Co., Pittsburgh, $24,750; Pittsburgh Filtration Manufacturing Company, $26,500; Pittsburgh Filter Company, $26,500. Bids were also made by New York, Indianapolis and Philadelphia firms. The board will meet next Friday to award the contract. One of the Pittsburgh firms, it is generally conceded, will get the contract.

DUBLIN GREETS KING EDWARD

England's Ruler Given Great Ovation in Old Ireland.

UNSTINTED WELCOME

Patriotic Banners Printed in Celtic Displayed Throughout the City.

HIS MAJESTY IS PLEASED

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]
(Copyright, 1903, by New York Herald Co.)

Dublin, July 21.—The king has come, seen and conquered. This is the verdict of Dublin. And Dublin is about right. There was not one discordant note to be heard from Kingstown to the vice-regal lodge.

As early as 5:30 a. m. rain began to pour and it kept on till past 9. But fortunately the sun came out and shone brightly directly after their majesties landed, and the weather remained fine till within a minute or so of their arrival at the vice-regal lodge.

Kingston was very prettily decorated and crowds of people gathered in the early morning to see the yacht Victoria and Albert arrive. It was nearly 9 o'clock when the royal yacht was seen coming along at a good clip. It was a few minutes after 11 o'clock when the king and queen and the Princess Victoria landed. His majesty was looking wonderfully fit in the field marshal's uniform, and the queen was all smiles and graciousness, in her favorite color pale mauve, with a toque to match.

The journey from Kingston to Balls bridge was uneventful. There were thousands of spectators along the route and many houses at Balls bridge were decorated. Here their majesties met a very warm reception, and there was no mistake as to its quality. It was a Dublin welcome. Not only were the streets beautifully decorated on all sides, but the cheers of the people were even more enthusiastic than those heard last August in London at the coronation.

Some of the banners hung across the streets were most complimentary and pathetic. Among them may be read: "We are the people; yet we belong to the king. God bless him."

The "Cead Mile Failte," which is Celtic for a hundred thousand welcomes, were to be seen on all sides. From Kingston to the vice-regal lodge is eight miles and the whole distance was flagged and decorated.

The Royal Horse artillery and the Twenty-first Lancers were drawn up in case of any contretemps, but luckily nothing of any sort took place, nor was there any sign of such a thing. The city was lined with soldiers, however.

BRYAN'S NEPHEW BROKE.

Lands Penniless in New York and Wires Distinguished Uncle for Aid.

LINCOLN, NEB., July 21.—(Special.)—Stranded in New York after having been robbed, and with only a few cents in his pockets, was the predicament in which a nephew of William J. Bryan found himself yesterday, but a frantic telegraphic appeal for aid brought the desired relief.

Frank Millson, Mr. Bryan's nephew, left his home in Lincoln two weeks ago for an eastern trip. While traveling from Boston to New York by steamer the stateroom occupied by young Millson and two companions was robbed, the three losing practically all of their money, amounting to several hundred dollars. Arriving in New York yesterday Millson used the remainder of his money to advise his uncle in Lincoln of his distress.

SAYS AMERICA WILL WAIVE CLAIM TO BORNEO ISLANDS

LONDON, July 21.—At the annual meeting of the British North Borneo Company this afternoon the question of the recent occupation by the United States of the seven small islands off the coast of Borneo came up. The chairman, Mr. Martin, M. P., said the islands, of which Great Britain had been in possession for 25 years, had not been referred to in any treaty with any power. Managing Director Cowie said it was not a question of aggression. It was simply a misunderstanding end in the end the United States would, when the matter was explained, waive its claims to the islands.

JEANNETTE MAN DIES IN DETROIT HOSPITAL

DETROIT, July 21.—(Special.)—James Tracey of Jeannette, Pa., died at Red Cross hospital in this city today, death being caused by dropsy. Tracey, who represented the American Flint Glassblowers' union, was on his way to Star island to attend a convention. He was taken sick on the boat between Cleveland and Detroit yesterday. Upon its arrival here he was removed to the hospital.

WIFE A SPECTATOR OF HUSBAND'S DROWNING

SOUTH HAVEN, MICH., July 21.—(Special.)—Roy English, a Chicago board of trade man, was drowned here this afternoon while bathing. His wife, on the beach watching, saw her husband dive from the South Haven pier and attempt to swim ashore, 300 feet from the beach. Onlookers heard a call for help and several started, but were too late. His wife is in hysterics alone in her room and refuses to see anyone.

MANY KILLED DURING SIEGE

Rebels Lose Venezuelan City After Horrible Fighting.

BATTLE IN STREETS

Ciudad Bolivar Falls in Hands of Government Troops After Strong Resistance.

LEADERS' HEADS BLOWN OFF

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

Caracas, Venezuela, July 21.—A messenger who has arrived here by steamer and train from Ciudad Bolivar reports that the city was captured by the government troops at 8 o'clock this morning (Tuesday).

Soledad, Venezuela, July 20, 7 p. m.—The fight at Ciudad Bolivar from 1 o'clock this afternoon has been horrible and at this hour the only places which still resist the onset of the government troops are the jail and the capitol.

Early in the afternoon the government troops, which had received all the reinforcements available, together with ammunition, and who numbered 5,200 men, were ordered to make a general attack upon all positions still held by the rebels. At 5 o'clock this afternoon the Zamora, called the Sebastopol of Ciudad Bolivar, was stormed and captured.

Ninety-four dead rebels were found inside, among them being Gen. Azanza, one of the revolutionary leaders, whose head had been blown off by a shell. It is impossible to render an idea of the carnage which occurred at this point.

At the same time Gen. Rivas, Gen. Gomez's chief lieutenant, with 2,200 men, succeeded in destroying a barricade erected around the Miranda plaza, the key to the capitol, where all the survivors of the revolution were concentrated. All the roads and streets running into the capitol are guarded by government troops, and the escape of the revolutionists after the capture of the capitol, which is inevitable, seems impossible. They must either surrender or die.

At 7 o'clock tonight the custom house was taken after 10 hours of fighting. The Associated Press representative counted 60 killed as a result of this fight.

The Dalten block, where the American consulate and most of the foreign business houses are located, was captured at 5 o'clock. The revolutionists are without provisions and water, the supply pipe having been cut yesterday. Their situation is considered desperate and hopeless. The shops are being pillaged.

Letters from the West Throw New Light on Washington Tragedy.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, PA., July 21.—Another chapter was added today to the recent tragedy of A. B. Young and wife at the Siegel hotel. Today two letters were received here. One was from J. L. Seeley, postmaster at Round Lake, Minn. Among other things he said: "Young married my cousin, who was then Miss Catherine L. Freeman, at this place two years ago. Mrs. Young has a baby eight months old and they are living with me."

The other letter is from H. Goddard, publisher of the Edgemont Express, at Edgemont, S. D. The writer says: "We are very much interested in his death, as he was a preacher here in the Presbyterian church, and left with one of the lady teachers."

As it was brought out here at the coroner's inquest that Young's wife had formerly been a teacher, the theory is gaining ground that the woman mentioned in the letter from Goddard is the dead one. The letter does not state when Young left that part of the country, nor does it give the name of the teacher.

KNOX STARTLES TURF.

Gelatine Manufacturer Offers to Race Anaconda Against Dan Patch for $25,000 a Side.

CLEVELAND, July 21.—Two weeks ago C. B. Knox of Johnstown, N. Y., bought the pacer Anaconda, 2.10¾, and changed his name to Knox Gelatine King. Today Knox made his introduction in turf circles memorable by offering to match his pacer against Dan Patch, 1.55¼, for $25,000 a side. Charles Tanner, manager of C. K. Billings' matinee stable, at once accepted the defi. King requested that the plan be consummated on the first day of the Cleveland races next Monday. Knox agrees to post $10,000 on that day, when all conditions will be arranged.

There is no doubt that the race will go through, as Anaconda was off last week placed in the hands of Jack Curry, the confident, and who long campaigned Joe Patchen. It has been the height of Curry's ambition to train and drive Anaconda, and now that he has him he is sure he can beat any living horse. Hence the proposition of Mr. Knox.

Clash With Cattlemen Expected.

CHEYENNE, WYO., July 21.—Sheriff Fenton, with the Basin light battery of 40 men, started this morning from Thermopolis with Jim McCloud, the murderer of Ben Nunnick, for Basin. An ambuscade by armed cattlemen is feared and troops at Landa, Buffalo and Sheridan have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to take the field.

Want $76,800 to Muzzle Dogs.

NEW YORK, July 21.—(Special.)—Mayor Low asked the board of aldermen today to take immediate action on a letter from President Haines of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, asking for $76,800 per annum to carry out the provisions of the dog muzzling ordinance.

THE DEAD MASS FOR POPE LEO

It Will Be Solemnized at Epiphany Church by Bishop Phelan on Friday Morning.

AN ADDRESS BY THE PRELATE

Calls on Clergy and Laity to Pray for the Departed Pontiff and to Ask the Divine Blessing for the Coming Papal Conclave.

Bishop Richard Phelan and his coadjutor, Bishop Regis J. F. Canevin, yesterday made the final arrangements for the church services to be conducted in memory of Pope Leo XIII. Bishop Canevin arrived from Greensburg yesterday and went out to St. Paul's orphan asylum to see Bishop Phelan, who is spending the summer there. After their conference, Bishop Phelan issued an address to the clergy and laity of the diocese, and the program for the pontifical requiem mass for the repose of the pope's soul was announced. The following is Bishop Phelan's address:

OFFICIAL.

To the Clergy and Laity of the Diocese of Pittsburgh:

Our Holy Father, Leo XIII., remarkable for his length of years and eminent in noble deeds and Christian virtues, has closed his earthly career and gone to everlasting peace and reward.

He has been great before God and men. His name will have a place in history among the most distinguished scholars, statesmen and saints in the long line of illustrious men who have been chosen, each in his turn, the successor of St. Peter, the Vicar of Christ, the Visible Head of the Church, the Shepherd of the entire flock.

Full of gratitude for his love and labor for us, and for the blessings and triumphs of a long and admirable life and pontificate, we should mourn and honor him in death and send up fervent prayers and supplications to the throne of God in his behalf.

The pastors are therefore requested to assemble their congregations as soon as convenient and offer a mass of requiem for the deceased pontiff, with all the solemnity which circumstances will permit. We also recommend to the prayers of the faithful the needs and welfare of Holy Church, that the spirit of God may enlighten and guide the coming conclave and bring about the selection of a worthy successor to our beloved Leo XIII.

† R. PHELAN,
Bishop of Pittsburgh.

July 21, 1903.

Not Officially Notified.

Late last night Bishop Phelan had not received the official notice of the death of the pope, which is to come through the apostolic delegation in Washington. It is supposed that it will be sent by mail. The arrangements for the pontifical mass were made in the absence of the official notification.

The mass will be celebrated at the Church of the Epiphany, which is temporarily considered the cathedral of the diocese. The interior of the church proper has not yet been completed, so that the service will be held in the basement. The mass will begin at 9 o'clock. Bishop Phelan will be the celebrant, Father F. L. Tobin, vicar general of the diocese, will assist the bishop; Father Martin Ryan and Father S. J. Schuman will be the deacons of honor. Father Lawrence A. O'Connell will be the deacon at the mass. Father Bonaventure Piscopo the sub-deacon and Father M. M. Sweeny the master of ceremonies.

Church Draped in Mourning.

A pontifical high mass, which means a mass which "pontifex," the bishop, celebrates, is comparatively rare, and, of course a mass in memory of a pope occurs only after the death of one. In preparation for this mass the exterior of the basement of the Epiphany church was already being draped in mourning yesterday. Night came on before much of the mourning drapery had been put in place, but it will be very elaborate. The period of sorrow will last 30 days.

The ceremonial of the pontifical requiem will be of the most solemn character. The altar will be draped in black, the robes of the celebrant and other officials of the mass and of the numerous altar boys, will be black and in front of the communion rail a black bier and catafalque, surrounded by burning candles, will stand, as in other funeral masses.

As the pontifical mass is the prelude to the funeral sermon, Bishop Phelan has selected Father Vincent Huber, one of the most eminent members of the Benedictine order in the United States.

Admirer of Pope Leo.

Father Huber was born in Cambria county and studied at St. Vincent's academy near Beatty. For some years he has been stationed at Peru, Ind., but recently he was sent to Denver, Col., to found a college there. Father Huber has always been an admirer and student of the career of Pope Leo. He is considered a very eloquent preacher.

In accordance with the request of Bishop Phelan a requiem mass for the pope will be sung in all the Catholic churches of the diocese. Each pastor will choose the day on which the mass is to be solemnized, for on account of engagements for masses for the dead and masses for the intentions of those for whom they are said no exact time can be observed by all the priests can be fixed. After every mass prayers will be said for the pope and invoking the divine blessing on the conclave of cardinals which is to elect the next bishop of Rome.

Book dealers found a great demand yesterday for publications bearing on Pope Leo XIII. His biography has been published, but it is understood that some time ago Pope Leo selected his official biographer; that all except the closing chapters have already been written and that the volume will soon be ready for publication.

WOMAN'S PREDICTION OF DEATH IS VERIFIED

FRANKLIN, PA., July 21.—(Special.)—The prediction made two weeks ago by Mrs. Amanda Beam of Wyattville, Venango county, that she was going to die, was fulfilled today when she dropped dead. She was 70 years old. A fortnight ago she called her son to her and told him the time had come, and she then gave him directions for the final disposition of her property.

Jeweler Violates Customs Law.

PHILADELPHIA, July 21.—(Special.)—William H. Thompson, Jr., a jeweler, was held in $1,000 bail by United States Commissioner Craig today, on the ground that he had committed a technical violation of the customs laws by representing himself as the owner of diamonds worth $7,500 when, in reality, he was only the consignee. The diamonds were imported from Amsterdam by Fink, Badenheimer & Co. of New York, who sent them by express to Thompson. He later declared them here and now the government officials want to know why this proceeding took place.

Two Men and a Boy Shot in Pistol Duel Near Jackson Yesterday.

TROOPS MAKE ARRESTS

County Authorities Refused to Take Any Actions in the Disturbance Which Grew Out of a Game of Cards. Ewen at Court House.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

JACKSON, KY., July 21.—In a pistol fight today, at Cave Run school house, three miles east of Jackson, between James and William Barrett, on one side, and Mack Howard and his 14-year-old son on the other, James Barrett was shot in the head, Mack Howard's elbow was shattered by a bullet and James Viras, aged 12, who was sitting at his desk in the school house was shot in the abdomen.

The boy may recover, but the two men are thought to be fatally hurt. Howard was already paralyzed from his waist down, the result of a pistol fight four years ago.

Today's fight followed a dispute over a poker game played last night, between James Barrett and Mack Howard. The civil authorities declined to take action and two details of soldiers from here were sent into the country to make arrests. Captain Foley's posse arrested the Howards and detachments under Lieutenant MacLeod overlook the Barretts several miles from the scene of the shooting.

Mack Howard was too seriously hurt to be brought to town, but the others were landed in jail here. James Barrett is a light colored mulatto and often passes for a white man. He admitted shooting a woman and 12 men, two of whom died. For the killing he was acquitted and for the other given a year in the penitentiary, being pardoned April last.

Capt. B. J. Ewen today attended the special meeting of the grand jury called to consider the bribery cases since the burning of his hotel. He remained in the baggage car, in which he traveled from Lexington, until 1 a. m., and then, under strong guard, went to the military camp.

The grand jury tonight returned indictments against Edward Tharp and Joseph Crawford, teamsters for the Hargis Bros., for arson. They were already held on the charge of setting fire to Ewen's hotel last month. An indictment was also returned against Gardner Plummer for attempting to bribe a witness. It is charged that he offered B. J. Ewen $5,000 to leave town so that he could not testify in the trial of Curtis Jett and Thomas White. It is generally believed that the grand jury investigation will extend to other capital offenses in connection with the Hargis-Cockrill feud.

It is known that witnesses were called to testify regarding the assassination of Dr. Cox and it is thought other cases that never reached official notice heretofore will now be taken up.

There is much talk over an alleged quarrel between County Judge James Hargis and Sheriff Edward Callahan, because the latter refused to insist on his rights to direct the petit grand jury. According to common report these county officials after a passage of words were about to come to blows when bystanders interfered.

MEMORY A BLANK.

Hospital Patient Leaves New York to Learn Who and What He Is.

NEW YORK, July 21.—(Special.)—"John Smith" has gone to Ashtabula, O., to find himself. His real name is not known, and that was the name under which he was registered at the Kings County hospital. Though about 55 years old, he could remember absolutely nothing of his past life.

He was found in the street two months ago, ragged and forlorn. The doctors pronounced him sane, but said he was suffering from a case of amnesia. About a week ago he had a first flash of recollection. He could faintly remember having been employed by the Steel Corporation. As near as he could remember, he said, it was on a ship plying between Buffalo and Ashtabula, O. He could not remember in what capacity.

A few days ago he started for Ashtabula to find himself. He said he would write the doctors at the hospital and now they are eagerly looking for a letter.

ADDICKS QUESTION IS AGITATING WOMAN'S CLUB

WILMINGTON, DEL., July 21.—(Special.)—"Shall we accept a piano bearing the name of J. Edward Addicks?" That's the question that agitates the Woman's club at St. Georges. So bitter is the controversy growing out of the proffer of an instrument that the club has been split into factions. One element argues that music, even under such circumstances, will add to the attractions of the club house. Those opposing say no Addicks piano for us.

DETAILS GO TONIGHT TO PUT UP THE CAMP

With the departure of camp details from the various companies in the Second brigade tonight, arrangements in Pittsburgh and at the headquarters of the other commands for the coming encampment, which opens Saturday morning at Somerset, will be brought into nearly final form. The details will leave Pittsburgh this evening in special cars over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, and will put up the camp and make all the other arrangements preliminary to the occupation of the camp grounds by the brigade on Friday morning.

FLOATING HOTEL WILL SOON BE COMMISSIONED

NEW YORK, July 21.—(Special.)—The vessels which compose the "floating hotel," designed by John Arbuckle, are being again made ready for sea. Beginning tomorrow they will take poor children and their mothers about the harbor every day for two weeks. After this the boats will be used as floating hotels for persons who cannot leave the city during the heated term.

Marriage Licenses Issued.

CUMBERLAND, MD., July 21.—(Special.)—Marriage licenses were issued to the following Pennsylvanians in Cumberland today: Albert J. Rudy, Birmingham, N. Y., and Ada E. Nicholas and Johanna Elizabeth Gietz, both of Somerdale, Pa.; Robert Jibb and Minnie Caddy, both of Homestead, Pa.; William Rodgers and Rosalie Click, both of Pittsburgh.

POLICE BELIEVE THEY HAVE CARLE'S MURDERER

Badly Wounded Italian Found in West Penn Hospital by Inspector Bailey.

Inspector Milton Bailey believes he has captured the murderer of Antonio Carle, the Italian murdered in Compromise alley near Hazelwood last Saturday night. Through a patient at the West Penn hospital it was learned that a man seriously wounded and suffering from many knife cuts was a patient at the hospital. Inspector Bailey late last night went to the hospital and found the man. He gave his name as Rocco Campeno. The police say he answers the description of Tony Romage, who is thought to be the man who killed Carle.

The patient who informed the police of the presence of the wounded Italian at the hospital claims the man was brought there by friends, who engaged a private room for him. The police say their informant is able to understand Italian and became suspicious of the new patient on hearing him talk with his companions about a fight in which he had been engaged. Inspector Bailey placed an officer on guard in the Italian's room. Campello is said to be in a dangerous condition.

PITTSBURGHERS MAKE LONG AUTOMOBILE TOUR

Atkin Party Reach Lake Hopatcong, N. J., Having Been on Road Since June.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

LAKE HOPATCONG, N. J., July 21.—Mr. and Mrs. David L. Atkin of Pittsburgh, who arrived here in their automobile with a party of friends last evening, have made a remarkable long distance tour. They have been on the road since early in June. With Mr. and Mrs. Atkin are Mr. and Mrs. D. Hastings and Mr. James D. Bowen of Pittsburgh.

Leaving Pittsburgh they journeyed to Detroit and from there crossed into Canada. They proceeded leisurely along the northern shore of Lake Ontario, stopping at the Thousand Islands for a brief visit. Passing through the many quaint villages bordering on the St. Lawrence, they reached Montreal, where they spent a few days in sightseeing. They re-crossed the Canadian line and then followed along the west shore of Lake Champlain. Stops were made at Saratoga, Albany and New York.

The members of the party declare that they have had a delightful journey and met with no mishap to speak of. They will remain here until Monday, when they will continue their journey home.

PRINTERS WILL PROTEST.

President's Reinstatement of a Non-Union Employe Causes Discord.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The case of W. A. Miller, assistant foreman in the bindery of the government printing office, who was removed from office because he was expelled from the bookbinders' union and was reassigned to duty, came up tonight at a meeting of the union at which 600 members were present.

President Barrett of the union announced that tomorrow a statement from the union standpoint would be furnished the president, Secretary Cortelyou, the civil service commission and Public Printer Palmer. Mr. Barrett said that the paper would show that the position of the bookbinders' union was correct and that the reinstatement of Miller would cause discord.

STRIKERS MARCH ON PORT VUE TIN MILLS

Two hundred strikers met at midnight in Thirteenth street, McKeesport, and marched to the plant of the McKeesport Tin Plate Company at Port Vue. The strikers were met by Burgess James Baird of Port Vue, and about a dozen deputy constables. Burgess Baird was unable to induce the strikers to stop their demonstration. After some argument the burgess and his assistants had to take refuge in the mills and one was hurt, but the strikers were in no mood to submit to the commands of the burgess. Five mills were working as usual last night.

PHILIPPINE SCOUTS WIN DESPERATE FIGHT

MANILA, July 21.—The Philippine scouts and rural constabulary defeated 250 rebels in the streets of Albay, the capital of the island of Albay, on Thursday last, killing 15 and wounding 15. The combatants entered the town from opposite sides and street fighting continued for three hours. Four non-combatants were killed. The scouts lost one killed and two wounded. The rebels were led by Simeon Ola, chief of the Albay rebels, and they had 30 riesfi.

AGED WOMAN MURDERED EARLY THIS MORNING

FALL RIVER, MASS., July 22.—The police were notified at 1:30 this morning that Mrs. Reid, mother of E. B. Reid, the well-known expressman, was murdered in her home on Mount Pleasant some time after midnight. It is reported that two men entered the house and assaulted the woman, who was 76 years old.

Yesterday's Smallpox Record.

Three new cases of smallpox developed yesterday at the Municipal hospital. Two of the patients are young children who were sent there with their mothers, William Cunningham, 1-year-old of No. 2 Stockholm street, and Charles Jones of No. 2 Stockholm street. The latter is the infant son of Mrs. Julia Jones, who was at the hospital nursing her husband. She also developed the disease yesterday. Samuel Brandon, 43 years old and colored, of No. 226 Shafer street, died at the hospital yesterday afternoon. He had been ill for 10 days.

Dean Cox Dies from Injuries.

NEW YORK, July 21.—(Special.)—The Rev. Samuel Cox, dean of the Episcopal cathedral, Garden City, L. I., died this morning from the effects of injuries received through a fall on Sunday, July 12. The dean was 78 years old and had been connected many years with the Episcopal church.

NOT ALLOWED TO TEACH BECAUSE OF HER AGE

Considerable interest attaches to the case of Rosella P. Welsh, the 17-year-old Homestead girl who was elected by the school board of East McKeesport to teach in the school of that place and was afterward refused a teacher's certificate by County Superintendent Samuel Hamilton because of her age. Miss Welsh is a graduate of the Homestead High school and was one of the party Charles M. Schwab had as his guests for 10 days at Atlantic City. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Welsh of Seventeenth avenue, Homestead. The East McKeesport school board expect that the county superintendent will reconsider and grant the young woman the desired certificate.

BUSINESS SENSE, NOT LITIGATION, IS NEEDED

Judge Putnam Intimates That He Will Affirm Shipbuilding Receivership.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PORTLAND, ME., July 21.—Judge Putnam of the circuit court intimated today during the progress of the hearing on the petition for an ancillary receiver for the United Shipbuilding Company that he might confirm the decree of Judge Kirkpatrick of New Jersey, who declared the corporation insolvent and appointed James Smith, Jr., receiver.

The hearing proceeded informally, no formal answer to the petition having been filed. There were present 12 attorneys representing interests opposed to the receivership. Judge Putnam remarked that the Bath Iron works and the Hyde Windlass Company were like the combination with their eyes open, sold out to the Shipbuilding Company their titles to all their property. Under the common law this court could do nothing but confirm the decree of the New Jersey judge, but these are equity proceedings and Judge Putnam said he was willing to give the parties full latitude in presentation of the case. The judge said owners of these corporations had made their own bed and they now come here and urge him to get them out of it. Prima facie evidence was shown that some sort of a receiver ought to be appointed, but the question is what course will best protect the parties. The arguments will be continued tomorrow. Judge Putnam in adjourning court, remarked:

"It is not one learned in law, but a good business man, whom you need to help you out of these difficulties."

AFTER THE GAMBLERS.

Warned Not to Stand on Downtown Streets to Make Bets on Horse Races.

Pittsburgh "sidewalk book makers" who have been making wagers on the horse races at the eastern and western tracks, will have to give up their business. Yesterday Director Moore of the department of public safety issued orders to Superintendent of Detectives McQuade to arrest these men on charges of gambling and make information against them.

Director Moore was informed yesterday that as high as $10,000 changed hands between these book makers and citizens every day. Bets are made on the sidewalk and paid over after the races are announced by telegraph.

Detectives were sent out and the "bookies" were summoned before Superintendent McQuade. They were given official notice they would have to quit business at once. Of 20 of these men all agreed to suppress their business except one man. He is a well-known gambler and said that Director Moore could not prevent him from carrying on private transactions with his customers. Superintendent McQuade informed him that he would have to place him under arrest if he violated this order, as Director Moore was determined that such business could not be carried on in the city streets.

Made Delirious by the Heat.

Stephen Kuschner, a Slav, aged 25 years, supposed to be temporarily delirious, walked out a second-story window of his boarding house, in River avenue, Braddock, yesterday, and was seriously injured. Kuschner had been overcome by the heat while at work in the mills during the morning and was taken home.

POPE LEO'S FUNERAL TO BE ON SATURDAY

the last remnant of former papal authority through it.

The Italian government has given orders to the railroad officials that cardinals coming to Rome for the conclave shall be considered princes of the blood and have reserved compartments, or salon cars, placed at their disposal from the frontier. In addition instructions have been given to all the government authorities to put themselves at the disposal of the cardinals, if they are requested to do so, and to leave nothing undone for their accommodation and protection.

EMOTION WAS INTENSE AT PONTIFF'S DEATHBED

Pope Leo Tried to Die for More Than Two Hours, but There Was Little Agony.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ROME, July 21.—Pio Centra, Leo's attendant, describing his death, said to your correspondent:

"Extraordinary emotion moved everybody during the death. We all thought Cardinal Oreglia couldn't cry, but he shed tears like a child. When his holiness was dying he commended the church and the college of cardinals to him. Even the diplomats wept. Cardinal Mocenni and several others fainted. During the death struggle the little grand-nephew, a son of Lucien Pecci, forced his way through the ranks of the cardinals and insisted on holding the pope's hand.

"The emotion was intense when his holiness asked Oreglia and Rampolla to pardon him for ever having displeased anyone. From 2 o'clock Monday the body father tried to die, but there was no real agony. There were two bad fits of coughing. Six minutes before the death of his holiness he opened his eyes. Lapponi bent over the pontiff and saw the lips ceasing to be agitated. They breathing and verified the fact that the last breath was drawn.

"The pope's head was greatly emaciated, making the nose seem immense. After Oregila certified to the death by calling the pontiff's name thrice the sculptor immediately took a cast of the head and right arm."

AUSTRIA WILL NOT VETO PAPAL ELECTION

VIENNA, July 21.—(Special Cable.)—Austria will not insist on the use of the right to veto the papal election. Austria favors the election of Gotti. If Gotti is elected great political changes will occur for it is not a secret in vatican circles that Cardinal Gotti is willing to accept the latest guarantees. In a word, he will before the end of the year be seen outside of the vatican, then the long deferred visit of the Austrian emperor to Rome will follow.

POPE LEO'S FALSE TEETH TAKEN AWAY BY NEPHEW

ROME, July 21.—(Special.)—The most pitiable figure at the vatican is Centra, who constantly kneels before the dead, weeping, his head buried in his hands. It is well known the pontiff wore a set of false teeth. They were taken away by his nephew, Camillo Pecci, who will treasure them as family heirlooms.

ALDERMEN OF NEW YORK PASS MEMORIAL TO POPE

REUNION OF OLD FAMILY.

Mrs. Susan A. Wade Will Entertain Four Generations.

Four generations of the Wade family, pioneers in the old Quaker town of New Brighton, will be entertained this week by Mrs. Susan A. Wade at her home in New Brighton. Among the guests at the Wade home will be Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Wade of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Wade of California, and their children, Miss Elizabeth and Master Wilson Oakley Wade.

Mrs. Susan A. Wade for many years has been a resident of New Brighton and during her early married life resided in Pittsburgh. Her husband was a member of the old firm of McClurg & Wade. Her grandfather, Isaac Wilson, was one of the first settlers in New Brighton and one of the founders of the old Quaker church at that place. The colonial ancestors of the family came to America with William Penn, and the old homestead of the family, almost 100 years old, is still standing. Among the relatives who will receive the guests are the Wilsons, the Townsends, the Hoopers, the Barkers and others.

MURDERED MAN MAY BE LADY BRASSEY'S BROTHER

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—(Special.)—A man found dead in a barn on Sunday last with every appearance of having been murdered was identified today as A. Almutt, who made the claim that he was a British soldier and a brother of Lady Brassey, wife of Sir William Brassey, once lord of admiralty.

Hawaiian Sugar Advanced.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—There has been an increase in the price of raw sugar in the Hawaiian islands to $3 75 a ton. This is said to be due to a greater demand for sugar because the canning season is at hand, and also to the report that the sugar raisers of Europe will form a selling combine, all sugars to be sold by one firm. Besides, the bounty to European sugar plants will close on September 1, and this, it is believed, will help the Hawaiian planters.

Asphalt Receiver Sues for Profits.

PHILADELPHIA, July 21.—Receiver Tatnall of the Asphalt Company of America today brought suit in the United States circuit court and in common pleas court to recover profits. The defendants are William J. Latta, Sidney F. Tyler, George D. Widener, George W. Elkins, William L. Elkins and E. Burgess Warren. The amount involved is about $4,000,000. Today's proceeding marks the beginning of litigation that will, it is expected, last for five years.

TRAGIC END OF LONG SPREE

New York Police Have Three New Murder Cases, Two of Which Are Surrounded by Mystery—Mafia Held Responsible for One of Them.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, June 21

Herman Gaudinger, a Swede, killed his wife, shot his nine-year-old son Herman, who will recover, and committed suicide tonight at Newark, N. J. Gaudinger was a pattern maker. Through drink he lost his work. While intoxicated he quarreled with his wife and threatened to kill her. Mrs. Gaudinger this morning asked that her husband be arrested and summons were issued. When he saw it he rushed upon his wife. Shots were heard, then the boy climbed out of a second story window and hung by his hands to the sill. Neighbors procured a ladder and took him down.

"Papa is killing mother. He tried to kill me, too," said the lad, pointing to a bullet wound in his shoulder. When the police entered the house they found the woman dying. In the cellar was the body of the husband.

The New York police have three new murder cases, two of which are "mysterious." The body of a man was found in the North river this morning. It had been in the water for some time. Around the neck was a satchel in which there were stones.

Salvatore Raffino was the victim of a woman's wiles. He received a letter from a woman telling him to meet her on Columbia street, Brooklyn. He went to the trysting place, but before the woman arrived he was shot in the throat by an Italian. The police think the Mafia is busy again.

Frederick M. Cushing went to Coney Island several days ago. His wife, weary of waiting for him, went to the house of her sister. Cushing came home intoxicated, found his wife missing, traced her to the sister's home, went there and shot her. He then put the pistol to his head. The doctors say he is temporarily insane.

YOUNG GIRL DISAPPEARS.

Anna Terry Invited Friends to a Party and Then Failed to Attend.

A number of friends invited to meet Anna Terry of No. 1807 Tustin street, at the home of a mutual friend, Mrs. Mary Hookey, of No. 92 Bride street, were much disappointed last night when the young woman failed to appear. Circumstances surrounding her non-appearance led her friends to believe that the girl had committed suicide.

In place of appearing last night Miss Terry sent two letters, one to Mrs. Hookey and another to her sweetheart who was to be there. In the letter to Mrs. Hookey she asked her forgiveness for inviting her friends and then not coming herself, and urged her to see they had a good time. She stated that she was sick and tired of everything, and would never be seen again.

When this letter was read before the party that had gathered, they went to the girl's home and found she had not been home since 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. They visited the morgue and could find no trace of her. Every conceivable place was searched but without avail. Miss Terry was 21 years of age and was employed at the Eclipse laundry.

WILL FINISH TODAY.

Green Bottle Blowers' Convention Rapidly Drawing to a Close.

CINCINNATI, July 21.—The national convention of the Association of Green Bottle Blowers today adopted the reports of committees of union labels and boycotts, law, apprentices, finance and means, machinery and resolutions and wound up other unfinished business.

The convention will close tomorrow with the election of officers and the selection of the next meeting place. Salaries were fixed at $2,400 for the president, $1,800 for the secretary and $600 for the treasurer, the only change being an increase in the treasurer's salary from $400 to $600. The conference with the manufacturers will be held at Atlantic City next week.

TROLLEY TRACK TORN UP AND THROWN INTO CREEK

CLARKSBURG, W. VA., July 21.—(Special.)—There was more trouble this morning between the Fairmont & Clarksburg Traction Company and the Salem Terminal Company, the two companies building an electric line from this city to Salem. Tracks of the Fairmont & Clarksburg line were torn up and thrown in the creek. Judge Maxwell issued an injunction this afternoon restraining the Salem company from tearing up track.

Tried Suicide With Her Apron.

Lizzie Brown, 28 years old, tried to commit suicide last night in Central station, by hanging herself to the bars of her cell. She was arrested at Second avenue and Try street for drunkenness and had no more than been placed in a cell than she tore her apron into strips and improvised a rope. Turnkey James Mehern removed her to a padded cell. She was locked up Monday night on the same charge.

Salt Rheum

You may call it eczema, tetter or milk crust.

But no matter what you call it, this skin disease which comes in patches that burn, itch, discharge a watery matter, dry and scale, owes its existence to the presence of humors in the system.

It will continue to exist, annoy, and perhaps agonize, as long as these humors remain.

It is always radically and permanently cured by which expels all humors, and is positively unequalled for all cutaneous eruptions.

Hood's Sarsaparille

EIGHTEENTH REGIMENT PURCHASES CHARLES J. CLARKE HOMESTEAD

Command Pays $100,000 for the Property, $75,000 Secured by a Mortgage.

EXPECTS TO BUILD AN ARMORY

Probability That the Legislature May Appropriate a Large Sum for This Purpose—Public May Be Appealed to for Subscriptions.

Alicia, the Clarke Homestead, Purchased By the Eighteenth Regiment.

"Alicia," for years the homestead of the late James J. Clarke at Forbes street and Craft avenue, has passed from the C. L. Magee estate to the Eighteenth regiment, N. G. P., known as the Duquesne Grays. The deal was consummated yesterday afternoon, when the Fidelity Title and Trust Company representing the Magee estate, sold the house and 3.16 acres for $100,000. The plot, upon which the regiment expects to erect one of the finest armories in the United States, measures 188 feet in Craft avenue, 400 feet in Emily street, 160 feet to the old Magee property and along the Magee homestead line, 334 feet.

This purchase does not take in the Forbes street frontage, as the price asked was too high to be considered at this time. However, if sufficient donations and subscriptions are forthcoming from the wealthy men of Pittsburgh, the regiment will undertake to purchase the Forbes street corner as an addition to the present site, giving it probably the finest and most centrally located armory site in Pennsylvania.

The deal was negotiated by Colonel Frank I. Rutledge, who gets the deed

FRANK I. RUTLEDGE,
Colonel of the Eighteenth Regiment.

as trustee for the regiment. Four thousand dollars was paid down, $21,000 is to be paid October 1, and the balance, $75,000, will be secured by mortgage at 4½ per cent, to be paid in five years. This interest, $3,375 a year, will be paid from the present rental allowance of the regiment.

The first payment made by the regiment yesterday was earned at the week's performance at the Alvin theater of "Held by the Enemy," given under the auspices of the regiment and for its benefit. Attorney E. L. Kearns, adjuant of the regiment, stated yesterday that the next payment of $21,000 would have to be raised by popular subscription and from the officers and men of the regiment. Papers will be passed among the men during the encampment next week. When it is found just how much can be raised in this way an appeal will be issued to the general public.

It is believed that the next legislature will act upon the recommendations of United States army officers who inspected the Pennsylvania National Guard, and appropriate money to build armories. The Eighteenth regiment hopes to get $1,000,000.

The regiment has been using the Clarke property since April 1, paying rent for it.

MONUMENT FOR THE MAN WHO FOUND SCHWAB

Movement Started in Braddock to Erect a Capt. William R. Jones Memorial.

A movement was started in Braddock yesterday looking toward the erection of a monument to the late Capt. William R. Jones, formerly superintendent of the Edgar Thomson mills, who was killed in an explosion about 12 years ago.

Capt. Jones during his lifetime was noted for his charity and was loved and honored by all the people of Braddock. Hundreds of needy families were assisted by him, and many of the present "junior partners" in the Carnegie Steel Company were given their first start in the iron and steel business by Capt. Jones. It was Capt. Jones who "found" Charles M. Schwab clerking in a grocery store for a few dollars a week and gave him a position at the Edgar Thomson mills and constantly advanced him until, at the death of Capt. Jones, Schwab was given his position.

It is proposed erecting the monument by popular subscription and it will be located in front of the Carnegie library, Library street and Parker avenue.

MEETING POSTPONED.

Bondholders of the Penn Incline Plane Company Will Gather Later.

The meeting of the bondholders of the Penn Incline Plane Company, which was called for yesterday afternoon, was adjourned by agreement because of the absence of Joshua Rhodes, president of the company. The meeting will be held later at a more suitable time.

The purpose of this meeting is to determine a policy for the company to follow. It owns the Seventeenth street incline, which has for years been an unprofitable investment. For several years past no interest has been paid on the bonds. There is said to be no likelihood of the incline being abandoned, but some arrangement is yet to be suggested by which the present earnings can be increased.

NEGRO'S HEAD WAS HARD.

Brick Caromed Off, Struck a Boy and Factured His Skull.

Charles Juniper and Edward Wood, negroes, were fighting at Tenth and Walnut streets, McKeesport, last evening, when Woods threw a brick at Juniper's head. The brick hit the mark, bounded off and fell on the head of 10-year-old John Ripple, fracturing his skull. He was carried in an unconscious condition to his home nearby, where attending physicians fear he may recover.

Both Woods and Juniper were arrested and will be held until the boy's recovery is assured. The only mark on Juniper's head, which broke the force of the brick, is a cut in the scalp.

Drove Wagon Over a Boy.

Benjamin Bunshoe, a huckster of No. 2820 Penn avenue, drove his wagon over 4-year-old John Moran at Fifty-first and Berlin alley yesterday afternoon. A crowd of boys chased Bunshoe and pelted him with stones. The peddler was arrested, charged with reckless driving. He will be held to await the result of the injuries to the boy, who is supposed to have suffered internal injuries.

Car Hung Over Embankment.

A picnic car running from Oakwood park to Millvale was wrecked at 7:30 o'clock last night on the curve just opposite the Baltimore & Ohio connecting bridge, near Millvale, by jumping the track. The car turned across the track and slid half over the outside rail, the front end hanging over the embankment above the West Penn tracks. The escape from a fall of 20 feet was narrow, but no one was injured.

MORE VIOLATORS OF SUNDAY LAWS

Ice, Milk and Other Companies of Wilkinsburg Are Faced With Warrants.

ATTORNEY GENERAL TO RULE

Committee of Twelve to Test Practice of Remitting Fines—Burgess Keys Holds Over Four Cases and Drops Two—A Question of Time.

Prosecutions for violations of the blue law in Wilkinsburg reached the infectious stage yesterday, when warrants were issued for the arrest of the officers and many employes of the Penn Ice Company, the Crown Plaster Company, the Ohio and Pittsburgh and the Eureka milk companies and the Enterprise Brick and Stone Company. The sources of the affidavits are clouded, although the defendants say that the druggists who heretofore have been the only ones prosecuted for Sunday selling are interested. This the druggists deny.

Another phase of the fight which developed yesterday is the determination of the committee of twelve to collect fines that have been remitted against the druggists and thus prevent the attorneys for the druggists from having subsequent cases thrown out.

The committee of twelve instructed its attorney to go to Harrisburg to confer with Attorney General Carson as to the fines. Burgess Keys, who has tried many of the cases, ruled last night in two continued hearings that a second conviction could not be found, owing to the fact that a transcript had been presented by the druggists in rebuttal. The burgess ruled, however, that the fines could be collected. This may be done.

The four new cases that came before the burgess last night were postponed until Thursday morning on the ground that convictions had already been found for violations on the same day, which was last Sunday. This unique situation was brought about by four druggists, W. L. Smith, S. M. Covell, M. J. McGann and Berlin & Co., making information against themselves before Justice Walker at a few minutes after 12 o'clock on Sunday night. A second batch of informations were made against the same druggists at about the same hour before Burgess Keys by the committee of twelve. The latter cases were postponed until it could be determined the exact hour at which the two sets of informations were made. The druggists pleaded guilty before Justice Walker, were fined $25 each and their fines remitted.

It is likely that action will be brought against M. J. Repine, a witness in one of the cases last night, who testified that he bought ice cream on Sunday for the purpose of testifying against the druggists.

The information against the ice, plaster and other companies were made in the names of two men unknown to the defendants. The druggists disclaim all knowledge of the proceedings. Several of the officers of the companies against which warrants have been issued are members of the committee of twelve.

A. W. Duff, president of the Penn company, said last night: "I have not been served with a warrant, nor do I know who has started the prosecution. I imagine it comes from the druggists."

Similar views were expressed by W. M. Holmes, president of the Crown Plaster Company. He said that his plant does not run on Sunday.

Lycoming Man Caught.

Edward Finnerty of Lairdsville, Lycoming county, Pa., was arrested in the Allegheny postoffice last night by Assistant Superintendent of Police John Glenn. Finnerty is wanted at his home on a charge of desertion and nonsupport brought against him by his wife, Ida Finnerty, who charges that Finnerty ran away and has been living with another woman in Allegheny.

Accused of Stealing Trousers.

Albert Seitz, aged 19, of No. 807 Green street; Samuel Rhodes, aged 16, of No. 508 East street, and Frank Julrooski, aged 19, of No. 223 Voeghtly street, were arrested on Stockton avenue, Allegheny, yesterday afternoon. It is alleged they stole a lot of trousers from a wagon, the garments belonging to a firm on Ninth street, Pittsburgh.

PAROLE SYSTEM OF QUARANTINE

Suspects to Be Confined Three Days and Inspected Every Evening for 18 More.

CITY MAKES A BIG SAVING

Two Hundred Persons Released Yesterday from Their Homes—Now Able to Attend to Their Regular Duties and to Support Themselves.

A quarantine parole system was established yesterday by the bureau of health. Hereafter all inmates of houses where smallpox has developed will be subjected to confinement for but three days, and then will be released on parole for 18 days. At the end of that time, if their condition warrants, they will be permanently released. This system was established by City Physician B. A. Booth, and its purpose is to add to the comfort of the persons in quarantine and reduce the expenses of the city in caring for them.

The parole system was established in New York and Philadelphia during the smallpox outbreak in those cities.

It was discovered to be almost inhuman to confine the tenants of houses where smallpox had been discovered during the warm weather. The health officers of those cities decided that three days' detention was sufficient to hold an inmate possessed of no symptoms of the disease. That time was sufficient to disinfect the clothing and vaccinate them. After those precautions had been taken there was little danger of the disease breaking out on them or a possibility of them carrying or spreading it. These paroles will have to return to their homes each night. During the 18 days they can go to their work and attend to the regular duties, but it is required they return to their homes or boarding houses and undergo an inspection by the parole officer each evening.

There are 90 quarantine and parole officers in service at the bureau of health at present. Almost 200 quarantine persons were released on parole yesterday. This will cut down the cost of maintaining these people. Heretofore the city was required to keep them in food, light and fuel for 21 days. Now the city will only have to defray their expenses for three days, while the vaccinating and disinfecting process is being carried on. The 18 days the patients are on parole they will have to support themselves.

WANT FRANCHISE FOR LONG-DISTANCE LINE

At the special meeting of McKeesport select council tomorrow evening Councilman Anderson Soles will present a resolution asking for a franchise for a street railway to connect McKeesport and Irwin. The right of way on Hartman, Boyle and Summit streets is to be asked and the work will be commenced within 60 days after the granting of the franchise. There is no opposition to the franchise so far.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains the linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it, or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, and a book that tells all about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing be sure to mention that you read this generous offer in the Pittsburgh Daily Gazette. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Tomorrow's Remnant Sale.

Store will be open at 7:45 A. M.

Extra salespeople to help you along.

Restaurant, sixth floor, suggests that you stay with us the entire day.

A house enjoying the extensive patronage that comes to this leading store of Pittsburg can scarcely clean up its accumulated lots of remnants and odds and ends—the aftermath of a busy season—in one or two days. Time was when we could do this. But a growing city tends toward growing trade, therefore it now takes several days to get rid of oddments.

Remnant days are enthusiastic affairs—the mere mention of remnants has a glamour to it and the enthusiasm thrown out by large crowds is infectious. People are apt to congregate where there are significant gatherings whether they have any intention to buy or not.

As anything of merit grows better as Time comes and goes, so do the attractive features of these Remnant Sales grow with each succeeding one.

For tomorrow we are free to say the most tempting prices will be named for all manner of goods incident to this store—from each of the 70 departments of this store.

Come, whether you wish to buy or not—come and see others picking up bargains. It is an even handed guess that when you see the many, many things being sacrificed, you will likely remember something you stand in need of.

And the foregoing remarks apply with equal force to people living out of town—probably more so than to city residents.

Wednesday, July 22, 1903.

It is significant information that the federated and independent window glass manufacturers have conceded, for the coming fire, the advanced wages demanded. The rates are those of what is known as the Burns scale of 1902—the highest for some years. Those familiar with the window glass trade who have been following the conferences and the gossip will not be slow in drawing conclusions. The concession means more than just another year of prosperity for the blowers, gatherers and flatteners. It means that there will be no revolution this year and that market matters have been adjusted upon a satisfactory basis.

Purchase of the Charles Clark property in Oakland by the Eighteenth regiment, N. G. P., promises to solve the armory problem in as far as that organization is concerned. Of course, the regiment will expect some assistance to clinch the bargain it has made for this very desirable site for an armory and drill grounds. That assistance ought to be enthusiastically given by the prosperous and law-abiding people of Pittsburgh. It is not many years since the nation had a striking example of how the national guard of the states form the natural nucleus of an army for the national defense. It is the duty of good citizens to do what they can to keep the guard in a state of efficiency, and the greatest need locally is to provide proper armory accommodations for the guardsmen.

Yesterday the house of commons passed the Irish land bill on third and final reading by a vote of 317 to 20. To that overwhelming majority votes were contributed by Conservatives, Liberals and Nationalists. John Redmond, on behalf of the Irish party, declared the bill does not give Ireland what it most desired, but if fairly administered it will bring peace and prosperity. Premier Balfour and the Liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell Bannerman, both complimented Secretary Wyndham and expressed the belief that the bill would be the beginning of a new era for Ireland. It is not often that all parties in Great Britain are in as thorough accord upon anything as they have been upon this measure, and this fact alone warrants the assumption that it is a good thing for both England and Ireland.

Advance sheets from the annual report of the bureau of industrial statistics at Harrisburg indicate the measure of general prosperity that has come to this commonwealth during the past six years. The comparison is between 1896 and 1902. During that time employment has increased enormously in the 771 establishments making returns, and the increase in wages has been in greater proportion. The employes of the concerns mentioned received in wages last year more than $98,000,000. Special mention is made of the steel production of the state. Last year it exceeded 8,000,000 tons, being larger than the output of either Great Britain or Germany. The increase since 1896 has been 154.4 per cent. The bureau does not localize its statistics, but we of Pittsburgh know the greater part of the increase noted has been in the Pittsburgh district.

News comes from London that Japan is far from satisfied with the reported assurances of Russia to the United States concerning open ports in Manchuria. Japan, these advices state, is urging Great Britain to more active measures to secure the immediate evacuation of Manchuria by Russian troops and the opening of three ports. It is further averred that Russia is pressing at Peking for the concessions from China which Russia has formally denied having proposed. It is well to take far eastern news filtered through London with some grains of allowance, especially as the United States has official representatives in all the eastern capitals. On the other hand, it will not be overlooked that Russian diplomacy is slippery and will bear watching—a fact freshly impressed by Count Cassini's varying interviews upon international negotiations.

After severe and determined fighting, covering a period of three days, the Venezuelan government forces under Gens. Gomes and Rivas have captured the city of Bolivar and probably broken the back of the insurrection. We of this country are accustomed to regard what is called war in South America as mere rioting. That is what it usually is. The battles are characterized by sound and fury, with comparatively little fighting. This city of Bolivar battle appears to be an exception to the rule. It was real warfare. To be sure a larger proportion of ammunition was wasted than in battles of our civil war, or even on San Juan hill, but a sufficient amount found lodgment to make formidable casualty lists on both sides. Having won the fight it may now be hoped the Castro government will be allowed to go in peace and devote its energies to meeting the obligations to the nations that are before The Hague tribunal for adjustment.

Some Massachusetts aunties who construe the constitutional maxim that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed as meaning that no government has a right to extend its jurisdiction over any people without their permission, and who take up the old cry of the French Jacobins, "perish the colonies rather than a principle," are so bitter in their animosity against President McKinley that they managed to exclude his statue from the grounds of the Springfield public library. The unanimous consent of the board of trustees was desired and two aunties on the board objected, securing for themselves the celebrity of general contempt. To be consistent, they must disapprove of Lincoln as strongly as of McKinley, for he subjected the seceding states to the national authority without their consent and against their vehement resistance. The Springfield instance finely displays the meanness of spirit and littleness of soul of the typical aunty.

The Stock Market.

The number of persons in the United States who are directly or indirectly interested in the stock market is larger now than ever before. This is because many lines of business heretofore carried on by individuals, firms and small companies have been merged into large corporations, the stocks and bonds of which have become widely distributed into the hands of the public. A large part of the latter cannot understand why the market value of these stocks and bonds should be lower today than last week or last month, when there has been, apparently, no decrease in earnings and no reduction in dividends. To many holders of stocks and bonds the market is something new and mysterious. For the benefit of these an explanation of the situation, stripped so far as possible of technical terms, may be in order.

The trouble in Wall street is financial, and has little or no connection with commercial or industrial affairs. About this time a year ago a boom was inaugurated in the stock market, during which prices advanced to the highest ever quoted. Banks loaned money freely to speculators, and when the domestic supply ran out the borrowers turned to Europe for additional loans. When the crops began to move the west and south made drafts upon their surplus funds in New York banks. To meet these drafts the banks called in the money loaned to speculators. The speculators bid up the rate of interest for new loans, and as a consequence money became "tight"—that is, the demand was greater than the supply. Borrowers who could not renew loans were compelled to sell stocks and bonds in order to meet their obligations in bank. The effect of this selling was to increase the supply of stocks and bonds on the market, and the consequence was the same as an oversupply of anything else—a decline in price.

Another thing which contributed to the decline was the issue of new securities, which, coming into competition with the securities being thrown over by speculators, absorbed the funds of investors. Thus the Pennsylvania railroad issued $75,000,000 par value of new stock at a premium of $15,000,000, making a total of $90,000,000 cash contributed by investors. If this transaction had not occurred at this time the $90,000,000 would have been seeking investment in securities already in the market, and this demand would have been a sustaining factor. The United States Steel Corporation also inaugurated its bond conversion plan, under which it raised $50,000,000 for improvements, and at the same time saved a considerable sum in annual fixed charges.

While these and other transactions were being conducted the decline in the general stock market continued. The situation was aggravated by foreign bankers calling for the payment of loans made to borrowers in this country. Simultaneously a "corner" in the cotton market carried the price of the staple to the highest since the war. English manufacturers could not afford to buy, thereby reducing our exports. At the same time the urgency of the demand here for iron, steel and other manufactured products was so great as to stimulate imports of foreign-made goods. The difference between what we bought from and sold to foreigners, known as the "balance of trade" and usually settled in cash, became less favorable to the United States, so that we were compelled to export instead of import gold. Meanwhile, domestic trade continued active and called for additional money to handle it. Here was a threefold drain upon the money market: from the stock market, from Europe and from general business.

Other large corporations, not so forehanded as Pennsylvania and United States Steel, which had intended to raise money for improvements by the sale of new securities, were unable to find buyers on favorable terms. It became a question of stopping improvements or borrowing money in bank, and the latter was adopted. This was an additional drain upon the money market, causing rates of interest to advance. There is an automatic movement between rates for money and the market price of stocks and bonds. When it is more profitable to loan money than to invest it in the purchase of securities, the value of the latter declines until the yield approximates the rate of interest paid on borrowed money.

The Pennsylvania railroad and the United States Steel Corporation have supplied their needs for money for years to come. There is no reason inherent in their financial condition warranting a decline in the market value of their securities to the present low level. Both have larger cash resources on hand than ever before, and both are in a position to so utilize their funds as to reduce costs and increase net revenues applicable to dividends. But their stocks and bonds are subject to general conditions. Out of the multitude of holders the necessities or sentiment of some will induce sales, and these offerings coming upon a market already congested, can only be disposed of at a sacrifice. The average of stock market values is below the level of three years ago. In some instances the average is below that of 1896, when the country was going through the "free silver" panic. In the judgment of the most experienced financiers the market has more than discounted the very worst that can happen to the crops or to general business.

The Terrible Slaughter.

Twenty cases of typhoid fever developed yesterday and sixteen the day before in the city of Pittsburgh. This is nearly double the average for the first six months of the year, which resulted in nearly 250 deaths. This is in the face of the fact that unusual June and July rains have kept the rivers full of water, thereby diluting the contamination. What may we expect during August and September, when typhoid usually reaches its worst for the year? October is ordinarily more prolific of cases than July, and November has generally reported a larger number than June.

The harvest of death for the first six months indicated a total of over 500 for the year, far exceeding the total of last year, which was the largest in the history of the city. The present rate threatens to add a hundred to the awful prospect as it appeared at the first of this month. In proportion to the increase of deaths, of course, there is the increase of sickness, loss of wages, drug bills, wages of nurses and medical fees—an appalling aggregate, truly, due almost wholly to the failure to provide for the busiest people in the world—pure, filtered water.

Physicians agree that typhoid fever is principally water borne. They are a unit in recommending sand filtration as the best method for eliminating pathogenic germs from the water supply. So confident are they of this fact that they warn all citizens to boil every drop of drinking water until the filtration plant is in operation. Yet our city authorities daily with the subject, haggle over questions of fictitious cost, over the injustice of giving pure water to the main city a day before it is supplied to the South Side, and, worst yet, over the question whether mechanical, alum water filters can be substituted for the sand system recommended by successive commissions and by the Allegheny County Medical society. There is upon those men who are delaying filtration a heavy burden of responsibility for the sickness and deaths resulting from polluted water. While it is possible to have water boiled, it is putting upon the citizen who pays exorbitant water taxes an inconvenience and an expense for cooling that he ought not to be expected to bear.

Cannon and Currency.

Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, who is to be speaker of the house of representatives, has "permitted it to be understood" that while he does not personally favor any currency legislation he will not oppose any bills that may be offered or attempt to use the speaker's power to prevent such legislation. The Gazette said for Mr. Cannon, when he was first quoted on the subject, that his attitude would be as he now permits it to be understood. The fact is Mr. Cannon has not been elected to the speakership, and if he took a position hostile to the enactment of a new currency system he might never be elected. This consideration aside, he is not the man to take advantage of official position to oppose the friends who elect him or to embarrass the national administration in carrying out its policies.

President Roosevelt has also "permitted it to be understood," vide the interview given out by his friend, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, that he favors currency reform on lines that will give more elasticity to meet trade demands. He desires that a system shall be provided that will prevent the government operations in prosperous times from contracting the currency. To this demand Mr. Cannon bows gracefully, and he may be expected to smother his personal feelings and allow the house to take its head in carrying out the president's wishes.

As for the actual measure or measures to be urged at the coming extra session of congress, they are being devised and perfected by leaders in the house and senate, representatives of the administration and financiers who are interested. These measures will supersede the Aldrich bill of last session, which, at best was only a makeshift. The new plan will be comprehensive and will naturally be given the support of business men of all sections and all parties. Mr. Cannon is not a high financial authority. He will perform his duty by giving the subject a fair opportunity for hearing.

Russian Folly.

The real attitude of Russian officialdom toward the Jews is undoubtedly better interpreted to the world by the declaration of Minister von Plehwe to a delegation of Zionists, who protested against the government's suppression of the Zionist propaganda, than it is in declarations of the zealousness of the government and the local officials at Kishineff against the leaders of the anti-Jewish mob. To the Zionist delegation von Plehwe asserted his desire to support any cause which encouraged the emigration of Jews from Russia, and declared "that instead of centering all their efforts upon the colonization of Jews in Palestine, the Zionists have created a world power for the purpose of strengthening their position in the lands where they live, and to thwart Russia in every possible way." The Russian minster of the interior thus makes it plain that it is the desire of the government not to Russianize the Jews by giving them equal rights, and thus enlisting their loyal support, but to drive them out of the empire and away from the places of their birth. In view of this it is not so surprising that those officials at Kishineff who were recently superseded, as a concession to international sentiment, permitted the demonstrations against the Jews at that place to grow until they developed into massacre, and it is not surprising, when the official mind is so colored with prejudice and hostility, that the people should be easily aroused against the proscribed race. Prejudice dies slowly when it has official sanction, such as Von Plehwe gives it.

In England there was once the same prejudice against the Jew that now exists in Russia, but since it has ceased to exist it has been found that the British empire has no more devotedly loyal citizens than the Anglicized Hebrews. Could Russia divest herself of medieval prejudice against the race the Russian empire would discover the Russian Hebrew to be among the most loyal subjects of the czar. But how can prejudice die when it is given official nourishment? The Jew in the United States has never been discriminated against, and in consequence he is one of the many sources of the republic's strength and greatness. If Russia would borrow a leaf from the experience of other nations, what is now a constant irritation and weakness, would be transformed into an important addition to Russia's internal strength, making for an increase of external power. A nation's force abroad is measurably heightened or lessened by its internal circumstances, and far-seeing statesmen appreciate the fact. So long as it is Russia's policy to rid itself of the Jews, by fair means or by foul, a troublesome question is kept alive in Russia and a quarrel is continued between Russia and the enlightened sentiment of the world that will be none the less real for being outside the sphere of diplomatic representations.

Of course, when you stop to consider it there is some reassurance to prospective world's fair excursionists in the fact that the mosquitoes which stopped that 700-horse power engine at St. Louis will never stop another.

News that Congressman Cannon will not oppose currency reform will have a tendency to make congressional delegations stand pat on their speakership indorsements.

Passing of "Chief" Arthur.

The sudden death of Peter M. Arthur has ended a career of more than ordinary honor and usefulness. There was probably no man of his time, says the New York Tribune, who had been longer or more conspicuously identified with what is called organized labor. There was no one who exercised influence over a more important department of industry. There was no one who secured for his associates and fellow laborers greater advantages and improvements of condition, or who more fully commanded their confidence and affection. There was no one who more scrupulously avoided strikes, violence and extravagant demands, or who more uniformly enjoyed the confidence of and maintained cordial and amicable relations with employers of labor and capitalists. Martin Irons and Eugene Debs, and others of like kidney, flashed through their meteoric and explosive careers and vanished in smoke and evil odors. But "Chief" Arthur, who preceded them in time, maintained the even tenor of his wiser way and long survived them, to pass away at last fuller of honors than of years.

THE OTHER GIRL.

How fair you looked that night in May,
Where you and music held joint sway!
With eager haste I clasped your waist,
To claim you for a twirl;
And when the dancing done, I told
To willing ears the story old,
Your soft reply was, "Yes," and I
Forgot the other girl.

In lustrous silk and filmy veil
You stood before the altar rail,
A bride as sweet as one could meet,
Of womanhood the pearl.
But as we turned to face the aisle,
A shadow crossed your winning smile,
And, in a pew in plainest view,
I saw the other girl.

Dear Rose, you are a charming wife!
For ten glad years you've made my life
A happy lot, and I would not Change places with an earl;
Yet sometimes, when you pout and frown,
Or wear an unbecoming gown,
My thoughts fly back along Time's track
To greet the other girl.

—Erie Moore, in Brooklyn Life.

ERASMUS WILSON.

Greatness and goodness are not means but ends.
Hath he not always treasures, always friends;
The good, great man? Three treasures—love and light,
And calm thoughts, as regular as infants' breath;
And three firm friends, more sure than day and night—
Himself, his Maker, and the Angel, Death.
—Coleridge.

It was a saying among the ancients that a good man never dies.

That this should have been taught and believed before there was a belief in the immortality of the soul, or even of the existence of a soul in man, may seem strange to some.

And yet when we scan ancient writings we find that very much of that which we call modern was old to them. That many of the problems which they recognized have been wrought out more fully, is true, and that is about all we have to our credit.

That Pope Leo XIII. is physically dead is true, yet he lives, and at this very moment he is more potent for good than when alive in the flesh, as it were, his spirit is hovering close to earth, and in truth with the spirits of all who regarded him as a great, good man. Those who knew him personally, or who had merely seen him, feel the touch more sensibly than those who only knew of him, and admired him for his evident goodness of heart.

That he was a great, good man is clearly proven by the evidence of those not of his faith who voluntarily rise up and speak in praise of him and his work.

* * * * *

The world is none the loser through death of a great, good man who has labored faithfully throughout long years. On the contrary it is the gainer by his timely death—timely in that he dies in the fullness of his glory. Then his departure is felt like that of a beloved friend.

While men are active, aggressive and full of vim, they are able to lead and to direct the masses. And being in close touch with them, their departure is distinctly felt. This keen feeling recalls their lives, their teachings and their personality, and causes them to live again in the heart as they had lived in the mind before.

Pope Leo was old in years, but young in heart, vigorous in mind, and strong in body for one so near the century line. Therein was the secret of the wonderfull influence he had over men. Had he been as old in heart as in years, and as weak in mind as in body, his departure would not have been so generally mourned, for then he would not have had such a strong hold upon the people, and they would not have felt the loosening of the grasp so distinctly.

It is well, therefore, for the world that he died in the fullness of his glory, and before the inevitable weakness that comes with age, had become known to the people and acknowledged by them.

* * * * *

The world needs great, good men, but in the natural order of things these cannot live always in the flesh. And would it be well for the world if they could, for the reason that men of mind and of force have settled convictions, have acquired certain habits of thought, and are strongly inclined to cling to their ways as though these were the only right ways.

Had the great, good men of the centuries past been permitted to live there would have been comparatively little progress, for they would have contended that their ways were right and the new ways were wrong.

Men learn but few new things after reaching maturity. As is well-known they live in the past, and as age advances they retreat towards childhood. They may convert the knowledge accumulated in their younger days into wisdom, thus becoming valuable teachers and advisers, but they are no longer fit to be leaders of adventures into new and stronger fields.

Pope Leo was one of the few who kept pace with the times and was in touch with new, but not necessarily in sympathy with it. This is what earned for him the distinction of being liberal as well as generous. His was not a narrow soul, though strong and unyielding when he had right on his side, or believed he had.

* * * * *

Great, good men, who are generous in thought and feeling, are more beloved by the world than those who are narrow and selfish. The latter are ambitious to have all things done in their way, and to take all the glory. This disposition, drives other great, good men from them, and draws weak, selfish ones in their stead.

It is generally conceded that it was the generous spirit in Grant, Sherman, Lincoln and other great, good men that enabled them to gather about them other great, good men, and thus to successfully fight the great rebellion to a finish. It was the success of their cause they sought, not the praise of man nor the glory that had so dazzled others that they rushed headlong into disaster instead of victory.

The great secret of success in business, in politics and in social affairs is the ability of leaders to select good people as their captains and aids. This was the secret of the final success of both Grant and Sherman, for as long as they were compelled to appoint commanders according to rank, or date of commission, they were heavily handicapped. But it was not long after they had been empowered to make their selections without regard to seniority or rank until their armies were entirely dependable, and the speedy close of the war was the result.

* * * * *

Pope Leo was held to be an accomplished diplomat, and so he was—a great, good diplomat. His diplomacy consisted in doing right toward his enemies as well as toward his friends. This kept him out of trouble and enabled him to get along without having to resort to sharp practices such as diplomatists are said to use in their business.

The ruler of any great institution, whether it be a state, a church or a business enterprise, who constantly aims to deal honestly and fairly with all, will rarely get into trouble. It is the selfish potentate who is always in a mix-up, and who lives in constant fear of the most trusted members of his cabinet.

Pope Leo acted from the heart, and selected his captains from among those who had good hearts as well as good heads. Instead of attempting to gain advantages through sharp practices, or diplomacy, so called, he only asked for that which was due, and took a very generous view of all claims presented to him.

Thus he won the confidence and respect of the world's rulers, and added new luster to his name—the pope of Rome.

* * * * *

The world's fighting days are nearly over, so nearly that some who are now living may see the complete disarmament of all the nations. It has been talked of seriously, and the czar of Russia went so far as to suggest some preliminary movements in that direction, but the vigor and energy with which he was strengthening his navy at that particular time led to a suspicion that he was not entirely sincere in the matter.

This will not be done, however, until it is done in compliance with a world-sentiment in favor of universal peace. A compact between nations at the present time would amount to no more than a truce in Kentucky, which lasts until one gets the drop on the other.

But it is coming—coming just as fast as universal peace sentiment is growing. This sentiment cannot be hurried very much on account of the presence of so many fighters. Those who have been schooled to war, and trained in war, are dying off quite rapidly, and by so much weakening the war spirit.

There may never be another great war, for who is to fight, and what is there to fight about that is worth while? Surely no great nation will ever attempt to despoil another, for it wouldn't be allowed to do so if it could.

However, we had better stand to our guns a while longer, just for luck.

Trial of the Kearsarge.

The speed trial of the battleship Kearsarge across the western ocean should furnish very useful data for the naval constructors and designers of our country. The Kearsarge is a first class battleship, credited with a speed of 17 knots an hour. It is improbable, however, that she could be pushed to anything like that speed for the whole voyage across the Atlantic. This is not owing to faults in her design or her construction. She was not intended for such work, that is the whole truth of the matter.—Boston Herald.

Penny Postage.

A bill for penny letter postage has been urged before congress during the past decade. The chief objection has been decrease of revenue and a larger deficit. But these economies will soon make income and outgo in the department so nearly equal that the revenue postage may safely be anticipated for a few years.—New York Mail and Express.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

(By Private Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, July 21.—"Isles of Safety" are causing disturbances in Manhattan. The large, oblong affair which has been erected at Fifth avenue and Twenty-third street is not included in the list of dangerous stones which confront horses and pedestrians alike at sundry congested points along Broadway. These new "isles" are rather larger than an ordinary millstone, standing in spots where the greatest peril threatens people trying to get across. It is objected that the new arrangement is not so good as it might be were drivers not in the habit of bumping over them now and then, particularly at night. The first night the "isles" were placed in position there were no lights on them, and the cabbies and other denizens who thought they knew every inch of Broadway simply drove at them helter skelter, and went over them. Red lamps have been placed on them now, and with policemen watching them it is hoped they prove a comfort to timid women and children as well as to many men unaccustomed to the hurly hurly of Manhattan. There is one "isle" referred to above which will be useful if ever brought into operation. It was put up under the direction of the Municipal Art society last spring and is believed to be completed. It is enclosed by a board fence, and all kinds of rubbish has accumulated about it, so that it is neither useful nor ornamental. It is probable now that attention has been called to it, that the authorities will do something toward putting it into commission. Meanwhile the public is not altogether ungrateful for the new "grindstones," as the police call them.

Small Boys Rescued by Longshoremen.

Small boys continue to tumble into the rivers with persistence and longshoremen are working overtime fishing them out. Only today a lad of 8 or 10 fell into the North river and was rescued by a longshoreman, who not only got him out, but applied "first assistance to the apparently drowned" with such vigor and judgment that he actually brought to life the little fellow when he seemed to be past assistance.

Great Race Declared Off.

It did not surprise horsemen when the official announcement went out this afternoon that the big race between Waterboy and McChesney would not take place tomorrow. There had been rumors that the horse from the west was not in good shape. He had a cough, he had been "weakened by his thousand-mile journey and he was shaky generally. His trainer, Hildreth, made the announcement several days ago that McChesney would not race unless he was in the pink of condition, and Mr. Smathers agreed with Hildreth. The New York horse, Waterboy, is ready to run for his life, it is said, and his owner and trainer would like nothing better than to have conclusions tried tomorrow as had been intended. But the contest is off for the time being and McChesney will be held in waiting until his Pittsburgh owner as well as his trainer are satisfied that he can give the best that is in him in the great duel.

Churches Wear Mourning Garb.

St. Patrick's cathedral is assuming the habiliments of woe. They will be gorgeous, as becomes the occasion, for a pope dies only once in a great while, and the church cannot have a death for which it would show greater regret than that of the pontiff. Leo XIII. was always strict in the observances laid down for various occasions, and, if he can know what is doing now, he must be pleased as he notes the extensive nature of all the outward show of respect for his memory. The draperies of the cathedral are black and purple. Between 10,000 and 12,000 yards of material will be used in the work of decoration. Other Roman Catholic churches throughout the city also are in the hands of decorators.

Ammon's Partner in Trouble.

With Col. Ammon convicted of one crime, he is perpetually brought into the public mind by the proceedings against old partners of his who are in trouble in other directions with which Col. Bob has nothing to do. Alfred R. Goslin, Col. Ammon's old partner and now arch enemy, is said to be in Europe, but Charley Weinman, said to have been interested in a doubtful business concern with Goslin, was arrested this afternoon on a charge of grand larceny.

A Dock Board Indictment.

That mysterious body, the grand jury, which is as far-reaching in its vengeance as the inquisition of old, allowed the rumble of danger to Tammany's dock board suspects to get out this afternoon. It is rumored that an indictment against a member of that board has been found. Who the member is no one can say for certain at this time, but the name of one man is printed in bold headlines in the afternoon papers and street talk is loud that he is the unfortunate. The average New Yorker had partly forgotten the dock board affair when the grand jury brought it back to the popular memory with a bang.

Court Disapproves of Spying.

Shadowing is a busy industry in New York. In a populous center like Greater New York men and women will depart from the straight and narrow path and private detectives find plenty to do. But the courts do not approve of this kind of espionage. A shadower was caught today and held for examination on the complaint of a woman who accused him of spying on her. The shadower said he was employed by the woman's husband, but that did not help his own case and he is in the tombs tonight.

Bull Saves Boy from Drowning.

A four-year-old boy fell into a brook in a suburban village and was in danger of drowning. It happened that the family bull (the father is a farmer) was standing in the water and the youngster seized the animal's tail. The bull, surprised by the liberty taken with his appendage, ran out of the water, dragging the boy with him and—that was all. The boy was saved and the bull walked away.

Financiers Not Perturbed.

Wall street seems to have got over its fever of last week and the week before. There was little movement on 'change today, except that some values went down and others seemed to be shaky. But no one looks for another hubbub down there just now. There must be a periodical fuss down there, it seems, but in a general way there is no apprehension to be observed among business men at present. Even at the Waldorf-Astoria in the evening there is no excitement to be noted among the wise ones who gather in the billiard room and gentlemen's restaurant.

Bryan and Cleveland.

Very little interest was taken in Mr. Bryan when he rode through the streets of Chicago Saturday, but some interest attaches to the speech which he delivered at the picnic of the Chicago Democratic club, because of the preliminary advertising which it received. It was to contain a highly-seasoned "roast" of Cleveland and was to be a political pronunciamento of national significance.

The attack on Cleveland was made according to expectations, but Mr. Bryan has about exhausted his rhetoric in philippics of this sort, and we know only what we knew before, that he will do his utmost to prevent the Cleveland Democrats from gaining control of the next Democratic national convention. His logic on the injury done his candidacy in 1896 by by the record of the Cleveland administration is curious enough, however, to deserve some notice. The odium of that record, he says, did more to defeat the Democratic party than any one plank of the Chicago platform, or even than all the planks that were severely criticised. In a sense this is true, but not at all in the sense that Mr. Bryan means. The greatest influence against the Democrats was the hard times, and in all probability it would have defeated any Democratic candidate if there had been no silver question. But there was a very general belief that the hard times were due to the Wilson tariff bill, which had the support of Mr. Bryan in congress, and which both Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Bryan desired should become a law in a more radical form than that in which it was finally enacted.—Chicago Record-Herald.

+ + + +

The time seems to be at hand when Mr. Bryan needs a political guardian. The man has become irresponsible. He has forgotten everything except his hatred of Grover Cleveland. He remembers only that with Mr. Cleveland's active support he might have been elected president in 1896, and he can never forgive the former president for supporting the Indianapolis ticket. It is really pathetic to see a man who possessed the possibilities of real leadership; who showed at one time marked devotion to moral ideals, even though those ideals were wrong; whose sympathies were strong and to the main correct, even though he lacked the intellectual force to govern them—when such a man surrenders himself unconditionally to his personal prejudices and his private hatreds, and attempts to use a great political party merely to avenge fancied wrongs to his own dignity and ambition, it is a spectacle that nobody can view with indifference. We had hoped that time would broaden Mr. Bryan. Instead, he resembles a "green" cottonwood plank. The more he is exposed to the sun, the more he shrinks.—Detroit Free Press.

+ + + +

Mr. Bryan looks upon the sage of Princeton as a bulwark of trusts and monopoly as against the rights of "the common people." He says Mr. Cleveland ruined Democracy once and will do it again, if he gets a chance. This is giving more credit to the happy father of Buzzards bay than he deserves. It is true that under him Democracy marched through the slaughter house to the grave, as Col. Watterson puts it, but it was because the people rose up in revolt against an administration which was for free trade and against protection, added to the fact that the Populistic Democracy was anxious to cut the value of property and wages in half by issuing unlimited fiat silver money.

Mr. Bryan sees disaster to Democracy if it returns to its platform of honest money. As that party is at present steeped in disaster to the ears, it cannot be said that there will be many unambitious Democrats who will weep over the possibilities which the rejected idol portrays so vividly. At present the mass of Democrats would swallow any sort of platform, even that adopted in Philadelphia three years ago, if there was the slightest prospect that it would be successful. It is cheering to note that Mr. Bryan is irreconcilable because he is in the position where he cannot do himself any good politically, but can do a lot of other persons much harm.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

+ + + +

There was not a majority of a million for the Republican candidate in 1896; there was only a plurality of a little over 600,000, but the change, such as it was, was due to Mr. Bryan's capture of the party machinery and the abandonment of the principles for which the party stood under Mr. Cleveland. There is no reason to suppose that the party would not hate won again, as it did in 1892, had it been faithful to the ends which the people then approved and to the trust that the people placed in its charge. What defeated the party was Bryanism, and unless it be fairly abandoned next year another defeat will surely follow. It cannot be pleasant for Mr. Bryan to acknowledge this fact, but it will be necessary for all responsible Democratic leaders to see it and act on it.—New York Times.

+ + + +

In his speech at the Carter Harrison picnic, Mr. Bryan held an inquest on the national Democracy, and returned a verdict in direct opposition to the facts. Mr. Bryan proved that he had learned nothing since 1896, save to deify the semi-savage Aguinaldo, and had forgotten everything. His assertion that the Republican victories in 1896 and since were won by no influences save those of corruption of the electorate showed his persistence in uttering malignant calumnies upon increasing majorities of the American people.

His declaration that "the odium which Mr. Cleveland's second administration brought upon the party did more to defeat it than all the planks of the Chicago platform" was so absolute a perversion of the truth that it could result solely from a blindness to facts so total as to be characterized only as political hysteria.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

+ + + +

We imagine that the Hon. Grover Cleveland cared very little on Saturday last what Mr. Bryan said of him. It is even possible that in the midst of the joy which on that day permeated the atmosphere of Buzzards bay Mr. Cleveland did not read Bryan's Chicago speech. Why should a man who has been twice president, three times a candidate and five times a father care what anyone thinks of him? Least of all, why should Grover Cleveland, safe in the regard and respect of the country, the first citizen of the United States, and sure of a high place in the nation's history, pay any attention to the party nagging of a bitter and disappointed man?—Indianapolis News.

NO HARMONY EFFECTED YET

Republican and Citizens' Leaders Differ on Terms That All Can Agree To.

GOT TOGETHER YESTERDAY

Republicans Deprecate Efforts Being Made to Arouse Opposition to Peace Among Organization Workers—Their Leaders Alive to the Party's Interests.

The consideration of the propositions made to an officer of the Republican county committee by a deputy representing leaders of the Citizens party, had progressed so far yesterday that representatives met in what might be called regular negotiations to discuss the terms upon which peace and harmony might be effected. The conference adjourned with no result attained, but neither side despairs of a final amicable arrangement.

The men who have been receiving the propositions looking to harmony among Republicans and Citizens, from the Citizens party's representative, learned yesterday, through newspaper publications, that there is a systematic effort being made to prejudice the rank and file of the Republican party, against the peace idea. Already talk is heard that before there can be peace there must be a redistribution of places in the public service. There seems to be an effort to prejudice the party workers in advance, the promoters of the objections apparently not realizing that the ruthlessness with which the present city administration dismissed faithful city employes had much to do with the present condition of the Citizens party, and that it is pure conjecture to suppose that another wholesale dismissal would inure to the benefit of the Republican party.

As has been explained, there had been until yesterday no real negotiations between Republican and Citizens party leaders, only tentative proposals having been received from a man high in the councils of the Citizens party. None of the Republican leaders has the slightest intention to close any arrangement without the assent of the Republicans in the organization, so that efforts to prevent harmony by arousing the alarm of the workers will fail. No peace will be made with the opposition on other than terms satisfactory to the whole Republican organization.

The men who, for the good of the Republican party, have been considering the proffer of the Citizens are not bothering themselves with consideration of political patronage. They are trying to put a stop to strife among Republicans under conditions that will strengthen the party and prevent a recurrence of the quarrels that have injured it.

At the conference yesterday representatives of each organization made propositions and the conference failed of agreement because neither side yet saw its way clear to view with favor the terms of the other.

No date for another meeting was fixed, but in case the men who took part conclude that there is a chance to come to an agreement a meeting can easily be arranged for. Yesterday's meeting adjourned at 4 o'clock. Previous to it Mayor Hays, Murry A. Verner and Thomas S. Bigelow met in Mr. Bigelow's office in Fourth avenue.

CITIZENS BARRED FROM CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE

Chairman Ford Announces He Will Appoint This Week Only Members of Organization.

"The coming county campaign will be in charge of our own people. Republicans whose regularity cannot be questioned. The Citizens party will have no representation on the Republican campaign committee this fall, even should harmony be realized," said Thomas J. Ford, chairman of the Republican county committee, last night.

"I will announce the names of the members of the committee this week," said Chairman Ford. "The appointment of the committee is not in any degree dependent upon any harmony proposition. I am waiting until the Sixth legislative district organizes and then I will announce the committee. The Sixth district holds its meeting Saturday."

Chairman Ford stated that the campaign committee would consist of nine members—three from Pittsburgh, two from Allegheny, one from McKeesport and one from each of the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth legislative districts.

It has been generally supposed that the appointment of the campaign committee would be delayed until the question of harmony was settled and that in case the two factions amalgamated, that the Citizens party leaders would have some representation on the committee.

Chairman Ford's statement shows that it is his intention to keep the control of the county organization in the hands of the men who now hold it. When asked about the prospects of fusion between the Republicans and Citizens, he said:

"There have been no developments. Matters stand as they did a week ago. There has not been the slightest change one way or the other."

CLUB MANAGEMENT SUES POLICE OFFICIALS

Retaliation for Sunday Raid Upon the Alexander Hamilton Organization.

The raid on the Alexander Hamilton Republican club of Allegheny last Sunday afternoon is not to go unnoticed and, if it is possible, the managers of the organization will give the Allegheny police a chance to show in court their authority for entering the place.

Bert D. Parker, vice president of the Hamilton club, yesterday entered suit against Detective Thomas C. Johnson, Lieut. John Bolland, Officer Joseph Gainsman and others, charging them with forcible entry and with the larceny of 64 cases of beer and a lot of whisky. The information was made before Alderman A. J. Brinker and warrants were issued last night.

In his charge against the defendants Barker avers that under the act of 1870 the officers had no authority to enter the place without warrants, and under no act were given the authority to confiscate goods belonging to the organization.

Mr. Barker, in making the information, remarked that it was a rather peculiar circumstance that Mayor Wyman was a bona fide member of the Hamilton club and that his application for membership could be shown if it were necessary.

Alderman Brinker has set Monday, August 3, as the time of the hearings.

Colored Minister is Missing.

The Rev. John Pryor, colored, whose home was formerly at No. 220 Forward avenue, is missing and constables from Alderman J. R. Connor's office are making a search for him, as is also Attorney A. Wolfred Holmes, who went on his bail bond for $500. Pryor is a typewriter salesman as well as a minister, but his wife alleges that he has failed to contribute much to her support and also says he threatened her with serious bodily injury. Hearings on these charges were set for Friday last, but Pryor failed to appear.

AN EPIDEMIC OF WIFE BEATING IN HOMESTEAD

Twenty alleged wife beaters have been arraigned before Burgess W. S. Ross of Homestead, during the past seven days, and people are wondering if an epidemic of that form of crime has not struck the town. Burgess Ross is doing his best to eradicate the evil by imposing drastic punishment on all who are brought before him and are proved to be guilty of this despicable offense. He gives them the limit in the way of fines and proposes to keep up that policy.

THE DEATH ROLL

Patrick S. Crawford.

Patrick S. Crawford of the Hotel Crawford, Pennsylvania avenue and Fremont street, Allegheny, will be buried this morning from St. Peter's pro-cathedral. Three months ago Mr. Crawford was attacked by hiccoughs. He could find no relief and on Sunday death ended his sufferings. Mr. Crawford was born in Belfast, Ireland, 57 years ago. He came to this country when a boy and located in Allegheny. Securing employment on a railroad he rose to be an engineer, and for 20 years ran a locomotive on the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago railroad. For several years of this period he hauled the New York and Pittsburgh limited west out of Pittsburgh. Ten years ago he retired and opened the Hotel Crawford. He was a man of considerable means and owned a farm of 100 acres on Long Island, N. Y. It had been his intention to sell his hotel and move with his family to this farm. Mr. Crawford leaves a widow and three children. The funeral will take place this morning from his late residence, No. 1402 Fremont street, at 8:30, with mass at St. Peter's afterwards.

William Tibby Buried.

The funeral of William Tibby yesterday afternoon was largely attended. The officiating clergymen were the Rev. T. M. Thompson, pastor of the Sharpsburg Presbyterian church; the Rev. William Buff, pastor of the United Presbyterian church of Aspinwall, and the Rev. Dr. Potter of Sharpsburg. The Presbyterian church choir furnished music at the services. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. A handsome design was received from the Glass Bottle Blowers' association. More than 300 employes of the firm of Tibby Bros. attended the funeral. The six oldest employes acted as pall-bearers, as follows: Daniel Morgan, T. Berner, Peter Vogel, William Johnston, John Wood and Andrew Kentz.

Eliphalet W. Bliss.

Eliphalet W. Bliss, founder and president of the E. W. Bliss Foundry Company of New York, died suddenly yesterday of heart failure. Mr. Bliss was taken ill in his office at Brooklyn on July 13. He was a director in the old Brooklyn City railroad and in many banks. He was a Republican and was a member of the Union League, Metropolitan, Brooklyn and Hamilton and Atlantic and New York Yacht clubs.

Obituary Notes.

Mrs. Mary Dobbins, wife of Louis H. Dobbins, died at her home at Salem, O., yesterday, aged 62. She was born in Rochester, N. Y., going to Salem in 1864.

Daniel Meik, 74 years old, for many years a stock dealer at the East Liberty stock yards, is dead at his late home, No. 522 Osceola street, East End. He is survived by his widow and six children.

Miss Helen A. Mora, the ballad singer, died at New York yesterday after an illness of two years. She was 42 years old. She came to this country 15 years ago from England and amassed a fortune.

Jacob Miller, 28 years old, died of congestion of the brain and spinal trouble at his home in Washington, Pa., yesterday. He was formerly tax collector for the borough of Washington. He is survived by his father, Simon Miller, two brothers and one sister, all of Washington.

Myrtle Keyser, aged 19 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Keyser of No. 244 Seventeenth avenue, Homestead, died yesterday morning after a short illness of typhoid fever. The deceased was graduated from the Homestead high school in the class of 1902.

Burglars Make Fourth Visit.

PASSAIC, N. J., July 21.—(Special.)—The Carlton Hill postoffice was robbed early this morning by expert burglars, who blew open the safe and secured $800. This is the fourth time in eight years this postoffice has been robbed and no arrest made.

THIS COSTS YOU NOTHING

Schilling Bros.' Co. Will Return Your Money If Mi-o-na Does Not Cure Dyspepsia and Increase Flesh.

There are hundreds of people in Pittsburgh who were not the least bit surprised when they read in The Gazette that Schilling Bros.' Co. were selling Mi-o-na under a guarantee to refund the money, in case it did not cure indigestion and increase weight.

This remarkable preparation is a true flesh-forming food, that builds up good, healthy, solid tissues, and makes thinness and scrawniness a thing of the past.

It tones up the digestive organs, and will cure the worst case of indigestion, headache, dizziness or the depressed, weak condition that afflicts nearly everyone who suffers with stomach trouble. Mi-o-na does not simply relieve; it does lasting good.

In 98 out of 100 cases where Mi-o-na is used, the result is a restoration of perfect harmony between height and weight and an absolute and permanent cure of all stomach troubles.

There are today hundreds in Pittsburgh who are recommending Mi-o-na because it cured them. A few months ago they were thin and dyspeptic, and could eat nothing without fear of stomach trouble. Since using Mi-o-na they have made noticeable gain in flesh, can eat what they want, and when they want, without fear of suffering.

Remember that you risk nothing in buying Mi-o-na. If it gives you the desired effect the cost is trifling, if it fails, Schilling Bros.' Co. will pay for the remedy themselves.

B. & B.

Started in the 1st of July to reduce this stock a half-million dollars this month. It's going to be done, and more. To do it means a lot of work and a lot of selling, and it takes prices—and mighty low prices. The latter part (price) we have fixed as never before—quality and assortments considered. Over half the task is accomplished—but the last half is the hardest, and we know it—therefore, the last half will be forced with such prices as will finish the task before the sun goes down the 31st of July. All who want to get medium and fine goods and save dollars now have the opportunity. In fact, fine goods is where the greatest sacrifice will be. Note some examples:

Double width Paris Cottons and Silk and Cotton—champagne colors with color spots and stripes, $1.00 ones, 50c—$1.50 ones, 75c
—for dainty dressy gowns, nothing the Parisians ever produced in cotton for dressy gowns are sweeter than these.

Other broken lines of double width Paris Cottons and Mercerized Cotton Voiles—all double width, 75c to $1.50 goods, at 25c, 50c and 75c.

INCREASED WAGE FOR DENNY MEN

Window Glass Scale Signed by Two Companies at Secret Meeting.

COVERS FIRE OF 1903-1904

Independent and Federation Officers and Wage Committee of Window Glass Workers Fix Rates Equal to Burn's Figures of Last Year.

The Denny organization of window glass workers has just obtained for its members a scale equal to that granted last year to the Burns organization. At a secret meeting to settle the wages for the coming fire, held at Niagara Falls Monday the scale was signed on behalf of the Independent Glass Company and the Denny factories of the Federation Window Glass Company. In all, about 10,000 skilled glass workers are affected by this new scale.

The Window Glass Workers' association, as the Denny organization is officially named, was represented by its wage committee headed by its president, John Phillips; the Independent Glass Company by its president, C. P. Cole, and its vice president, L. S. Cunningham, and the Federation Window Glass Company by its treasurer, W. L. Monro, Esq., of Pittsburgh. The wage settlement, which was quickly effected covers the entire fire of 1903-04.

The announcement is a complete surprise to most of those who had watched the series of events which seemed to threaten demoralization of wages for window glass workers. It is believed that it foreshadows an agreement between the Independent and Federation companies with the American Window Glass Company by which the American will not make such serious inroads upon prices as had been feared from the introduction of the glass blowing machine. Many had expected that the wages of window glass workers at the next fire would be reduced from 20 to 40 per cent, but instead of that the new scale is a distinct advance for the Denny men. Last year they agreed to a scale 10 per cent lower than that which the Burns organization finally obtained. That was the highest scale in the history of the glass trade. The new scale brings the Denny organization up to the other, and it is believed that the Burns organization will now make an effort to obtain a still higher rate of wages in order to maintain a lead above the Denny.

Another effect of this settlement will be a relief to the entire window glass market to a large degree. It removes the possibility of glass being made by hand at a less rate than during the fire just closed. The announcement will enable dealers to buy with the knowledge that the cost of manufacturing glass for the coming year has been definitely settled.

SILENT BROTHERHOOD'S IDEALS ARE ENDANGERED

"Cyclone" Kirkland Takes Out a Marriage License, but His Intended Bride May Be Mythical.

In 10 minutes the Silent Brotherhood was destroyed yesterday. The remnants of it will be wiped away entirely when "Cyclone" Kirkland leads his fair and blushing bride to the altar. "Cyclone" yesterday applied for and secured a marriage license. His intended may be mythical, but he has the license, and, if he has the young woman, may be married at almost any time.

Dr. James M. Kirkland of Boundary street, Wilkinsburg, walked calmly into the marriage license office yesterday afternoon and gave one of his characteristic talks to the clerks. He did his best to induce Clerk Herman Hegner to join the ranks of the Silent Brotherhood. He announced J. Pierpont Morgan, or "Ponty," as he familiarly termed him, had just offered him $100,000,000 to withdraw from the next presidential race.

Clerk Hegner listened tolerantly while "Cyclone" said he had the presidential office in his vest pocket. He went on to say he could not afford to transfer the office to some other man for a check book. "Ponty" could not buy him, he exclaimed. After indulging in talk of this kind, in which large sums of money figured prominently, "Cyclone" blushingly referred to his mission. He was to be married.

"Cyclone" swore he was 61 years of age, that he lived in Boundary street, Wilkinsburg, and that he was free to marry. When he said he was a journalist by occupation a broad smile illumed the clerk's features. The future "Mrs. Cyclone" he averred was Miss Rebecca D. Beckett, aged 34 years, of No. 315 Penn avenue, Pittsburgh. She was born in County Antrim, Ireland, had been married before, but the tie had been dissolved by the death of her husband.

When asked for the customary license fee of 50 cents "Cyclone" sprung a roll of greenbacks containing eight $1 bills, remarking, "'Cyclone' always has money; you can't fool 'Cye.'" As the day was warm the founder and most awful chief of the Silent Brotherhood neglected to initiate his new converts in the clerk's office into the ranks of the silent and left the office with the green paper which will enable him to wed peering out of a coat pocket.

"Cyclone" was reminded as he was leaving that now the sacred ideals of the brotherhood were shattered, as he was about to wed. He made a tearful grimace, but refused to further answer the gibe.

"Cyclone's" taking out the marriage license is strange enough, but stranger still is the fact that his bride-to-be cannot be located. Her address is distinctly given as No. 315 Penn avenue, Pittsburgh, but that building is occupied by an antique store, and no person by the name of Beckett resides there. There is no house of that number in Wilkinsburg. There is a vacant lot in Penn avenue between the numbers 311 and 331.

PROF. BARNES RESIGNS; CHARGES ARE DROPPED

Member of Westminster College Faculty Accused of Heresy, Quits.

The resignation of Morgan Barnes, professor of Greek at Westminster college, was accepted at a large meeting of the board of trustees yesterday afternoon in the United Presbyterian publication building, Ninth street and Penn avenue. The investigation of the charges of heresy against him was abandoned and his successor in the college faculty appointed.

Prof. Barnes presents his resignation to accept the position of president of a preparatory school for Harvard and Yale on the Pacific coast. Frank C. McGill, a brother of the Rev. D. F. McGill, pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian church, Allegheny, was appointed to fill the vacancy. Mr. McGill is taking a post-graduate course at Columbia university, New York, but will take charge of the Greek department at Westminster this fall.

No specific charge of heresy against Prof. Barnes was made, but merely an investigation instituted by the board to ascertain if he had made certain references to the divinity of Christ that had been said he had. It was claimed that Prof. Barnes said he did not believe in the Godhead of Christ. He believed, it was claimed, that Christ was merely an earthly man of great character and purity.

In his letter of resignation to the board of trustees Prof. Barnes says: "I have for prudential and other reasons been constrained to accept the offer of a position where my work will be unhampered by ecclesiastical or hierarchical interference, and where the spirit of the educational rather than that of the propaganda prevails." Prof. Barnes refers in his letter to the fact that he had taught Greek in the institution for seven years and had always been commended by the faculty and the patrons of the college for the proficiency of his department.

At yesterday's meeting of the board of trustees, Dr. M. M. Patterson, president of the board, occupied the chair. The only other business transacted outside of Prof. Barnes' resignation, was the election of Prof. W. T. Hewittson to the department of English in the college, to succeed Prof. Mary McCleary, resigned. Prof. Hewittson is at present professor of English in Knoxville college, Knoxville, Tenn.

ENORMOUS PROFITS OF THE WALKING DELEGATE

Trial of Stonecutters' Treasurer Promises to Result in Startling Revelations.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 21.—(Special.)—The trial of Lawrence Murphy, charged with the larceny of $12,000 from the Stonecutters' union while treasurer, promise to develop a sensation. Questions asked prospective jurors today are an indication. Some of the questions asked by counsel for the defense were:

"If the evidence shows that it was customary in this union to levy fines and penalties upon master masons, owners, builders and bosses, would this prejudice you against the defendant?"

"If it is shown that through threats employers have been mulcted in sums of $50,000, $40,000, $25,000 and $10,000, would your verdict be influenced?"

"Could you return an unprejudiced verdict if we prove that persons connected with the union were in the habit of meeting in a saloon to arrange plans for extorting money from owners, builders and construction companies, and then dividing among themselves these large sums surrendered to them to prevent strikes or to an end?"

Till would indicate that Walking Delegate Samuel Parks is an infant in the "graft" industry, even if everything said about him were true.

IMPURE WATER CAUSES TYPHOID

Reports to Health Bureau Show Disease to Be Growing Rapidly.

RELIEF IN HANDS OF MAYOR

Councilman Wasson Fails to Find Hays and Will Try Again Today—Other Members Supporting Him—City Physician Fears Epidemic Will Get Worse.

While the city administration and councils continue to delay action on filtration, typhoid, resulting mainly from an impure water supply, is growing at an alarming rate. Twenty new cases of typhoid were reported yesterday to the bureau of health and 16 the day before, making 36 cases in two days. Physicians and medical authorities are laying the blame upon the condition of the city's water supply, for which the present administration and councils are jointly held responsible.

The filtration committee of councils is responsible for holding up the ordinances for the construction of a filter plant and the administration is blamed for sanctioning the delay, and the move in favor of mechanical filtration.

A few prominent councilmen who seem to have a keener regard for the situation than the majority of their colleagues or the administration, are endeavoring to stir the city officials to some action.

Will Try Again Today.

Councilman J. C. Wasson of the Twentieth ward was as good as his word and made a couple of efforts yesterday afternoon to see Mayor William B. Hays to ask the executive to call a special meeting of common council to receive the report of the filtration committee.

Mr. Wasson found the mayor out when he called at the city hall. He left word asking for an engagement with the mayor at 9 o'clock this morning. Councilman W. B. Wolf also went to the city hall on the same mission yesterday.

Mr. Wasson said he had talked yesterday with Dr. James P. Shaw, common councilman from the Sixth ward, and that Dr. Shaw was equally anxious that some quick action be taken by the mayor and councils.

"I will try again this morning to see the mayor and ask him to call a special meeting of common council to take action on filtration. If the mayor decides that the matter is not a public necessity I will ask the mayor's assistance in getting the signatures of councilmen for a special meeting."

Mr. Wasson favors the immediate passage of the ordinances providing for the letting of contracts for the construction of the filtration plant, according to the plans prepared upon the recommendations of the last filtration commission. He gives figures and makes a strong argument that no bond issue will be required.

Lobby Working for Delay.

Every revival of the subject of filtration is a signal for the agents of alumwater, or the mechanical system, to flock to the city hall. Yesterday the local agent of the mechanical company was on hand to learn the results of Councilman Wasson's appeal to Mayor Hays. Deaf to the appeals of the public for relief and indifferent to the wide-spread ravages of the disease, the mechanical filter lobby is unceasing in its efforts to hold up filtration in councils until its scheme can be forced through.

City Physician A. B. Booth stated yesterday that he feared the typhoid epidemic would grow a great deal worse as the summer advances. He said the only salvation for the people, in the absence of filtration, was to get rid of the typhoid germs in the water by boiling it.

EXPOSITION OPENING.

Six Weeks from This Evening the Band Will Begin to Play.

Six weeks from tonight the exposition opens for a season of 46 days. The music for the occasion will be furnished by Creatore, whose band interpretations were the sensation of a year ago. Following him comes the Padettes Woman's orchestra, with added attraction of prodigy soloists. Third on the list is Sousa's band, fresh from a wonderfully successful European tour. Next Damrosch with his New York Symphony orchestra will be heard, while for the last week Mascagni, Dejkon and another Italian band wonder, Verselis, are under advisement.

Money is no wise being stinted in the planning of this year's musical scheme, the total outlay promising to reach fully $30,000.

Next Atlantic City Excursion July 23d, Via Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

Tickets good 16 days. Round trip fare $10 in coaches; $2 additional for tickets good in parlor or sleeping cars, when presented in connection with Pullman tickets. Special trains leave Baltimore & Ohio station corner Smithfield and Water streets, Pittsburgh, 8 a. m., 6:30 p. m. and 9 p. m.

Women's pongee and silk shirtwaist suits

1/3 OFF the marked prices.

DESPITE pessimistic talk on all hands, our sales of silk shirtwaist suits have not only equalled but excelled those of last summer. As a result, lines have been greatly depleted—only about 100 suits all told now remain. Prices on these range from $14.85 up to $35. Come in today and take your choice from all at one-third off the marked prices.

The pongee suits are made of finest Shantung or American pongee silk; some are trimmed with wide Cluny laces, while others are severely plain, trimmed with tucks, pleats, fagotting, tailor stitching, etc.

The silk dresses come in all the popular light and dark shades of blues, browns, tans, black, etc., also numerous color combinations—trimmed with laces, ribbons, insertions, fancy buttons, etc.—some are unlined, while others have drop skirts.

Clearance of girls' wear

PRICES have been given more than a slight pinch—all the profits have been squeezed out of them. In many cases, we're actually accepting a loss.

Girls' wash dresses—in neat figures, stripes and checks, trimmed with washable braid, full cut skirt, with four in. turnup, sizes 4 to 14—reduced from 98c to 31c

Shirtwaist suits—sizes 12 to 18 years, in plain white lawn, trimmed with narrow tucks—reduced from $3 to 1.19

Girls' white dresses—lawn or swiss, trimmed with lace, ribbon, etc., reduced from $3.50 and $4 to 1.90

Girls' wash coats—sizes 2 to 8 years, in colored piques or natural linen, pleated back, trimmed with lace or embroidery—reduced from 98c to 49c

Girls' reefers and box-coats—odds and ends, various pretty styles, worth up to $3.50—reduced to 1.00

Tailor-made suits for girls and misses—5 splendid styles, in fancy mixtures, plain serges, cheviots, etc., worth up to $8, reduced to 3.74

KAUFMANN'S
"THE BIG STORE"

Hdkf. "seconds"

ABOUT 3,000 dozen handkerchiefs have been culled out by a maker in re-assorting his stock. We bought and will sell them for much less than regular prices. Here and there a thick thread appears or there's a mis-stitch in the embroidered edge—which do not impair the wearing qualities—they were equal in style and quality to the regular lines to which they belong. Nothing else but this unclassifies them for selling at regular prices. Because it is our policy, of exact representation, these are all classed together, apart from what we guarantee as perfect, and they are going to be sold that way.

Pure linen handkerchiefs—plain hemstitched, usual 10c and 12½c goods, all in one lot at, choice, 5c

Another assortment in which the values are manyfold greater and includes hundreds of different designs in plain, hemstitched, embroidered and lace trimmed effects, fine sheer goods—actual values of which will range up to 25c. Surely when an offer like this presents itself it is time to buy in sufficient quantities for an entire year's needs—choice of all 15c

Hosiery reductions

IT'S surprising how relentless the price-cutter has been on such staple merchandise as hosiery, and it's surprising how eagerly shrewd shoppers are availing themselves of their opportunity.

Women's stockings—strictly fast color, silk embroidered, open work and all over lace effects—stockings that have been selling all the season for 19c, now reduced to two pairs for 25c, or, per pair, 15c

Women's stockings—new drop stitch and round stripe effects, warranted fast color—we've sold thousands of pairs at 25c and 35c, but you can supply your needs here today at 3 pairs for 50c, or, pair, 17c

Women's stockings—made of extra fine French lisle, nobby drop stitch effects, with extra high spliced toe and heel—the women have been buying them readily at 50c; commencing today the price goes down to 3 pairs for $1.00, or, pair, 35c

Women's "fetching" summer felt hats

MADE of the lightest, softest kind of summer felt—won't scratch like rough straw, quite as cool and weigh practically nothing at all—expressly designed for seashore and mountain wear—prices 4.98 down to 1.49.

Clearance of about 150 misses' trimmed hats

These hats are made of fancy straws, Manilla and Cuban braids, trimmed up in a most becoming style—sold earlier in the season for $2.50 and $3—all now reduced to only 98c

Dress shapes—a miscellaneous collection of women's and misses' dress shapes, including about all the most popular styles, black and colors, former prices up to 75c, closing out price, 15c

Women's linen and duck outing hats

You'll be sorry if you don't take one of these along on your summer vacation trip to the mountains, country or seashore—each hat is trimmed in a most effective manner—really worth $2.50, in this sale at 1.49

Tailored hats—a large table full of women's tailored hats in a variety of braids and trimmings—ends of lines that sold earlier in the season as high as $3, all now to be closed out at only 98c

Women's linen and fancy shirtwaist suits

1/3 OFF the marked prices.

THESE dresses are all new, bright and fresh, and the styles are as desirable as any that have been on sale this season. No reason whatever for this big reduction in price except that the lines have become somewhat broken and the calendar reminds us that it's time to get our stock ship-shape.

This one-third off offer does not include our entire stock, but only the high-class goods marked $18 or over. These suits are made of the finest imported linen, silk figured grass linen, and other fancy summer fabrics in white, blue, oxblood, tan, gray, etc. Some are trimmed with Cluny lace insertion, embroideries, pearl buttons and ornaments—others owe their superbness to their plainness.

Remember, all the suits included go at a discount of 33 1-3 per cent. After you have made your selection, just look at the price ticket and pay the saleslady only one-third less than the price marked thereon.

Own your own bathing suit

SETTING aside all questions of health and sanitation, and considering the matter from the standpoint of economy alone, it's better to own your own bathing suit than to hire one, not to speak of the advantage of being able to select just the style and color that most becomes you, and in securing a proper fit.

Women's brilliantine bathing suits—black or navy; skirt, belt, sleeves and collar trimmed with white or black braid—suits which should retail for $4, today at 2.49

Women's bathing stockings or sandals—white or black—2 complete lines at 50c and 44c

Women's brilliantine bathing suits—navy or black, large white shawl collar, white band on skirt; sleeves and belt finished with black or blue braid—real value $5, this sale 3.98

Women's silk bathing caps—black, red or navy—the 50c kind for only 29c

CHICAGO, July 21.—And Pittsburgh lost the third, also. The Microbes are feeling coltish and confident. Now, if some third-rate club that has been whaled by about everything on the circuit does not come along and thrash the vinegar out of this Chicago bunch everything will be lovely. The score today was 5 to 1, and the Pirates can thank Hans Wagner primarily, Hadley secondarily and a thump on the head, for the score.

It is hard to see how the Chicagoans would have won if Kling had not been in the game. If it had not been for his hitting the Microbes would not have made a run. Also if Wagner had not soaked Hadley on the dome with the ball Pittsburgh would not have had a run either. They did not give Kling any money, but he better quit to think it is a diamond necklace at him. He deserves it. All he did was to make a home run, a three-bagger and a single.

The Pirates do not seem to be able to know when to get started without Fred Clarke. The team is an engine without any rails. But if every man had been a Clarke today they could not have got started. Jack Menefee was there in the box with all his great qualities. And when Jack pitches a great game it is great and no mistake. He neither skips furrows nor leaves weeds.

Jack pitched today as if he liked it. The Pirates looked as if they didn't like it. Kennedy did well enough, but what's a fellow to do when one of the opposing stickmen comes to bat in three innings and makes three hits?

The Microbes scored in the fourth. But it was only after Wagner cracked Harley's cupola. Hartley batted a ball down to Hans, who fumbled and hurried it. Strangely enough, Hans' rome things have traveled faster than that ball, but these are things you couldn't see, and so you can't prove it.

Wagner could not cover make a place in the palma trophy team with that throw. He tried to get it to Bransfield and Harley took it for granted that the ball wouldn't go any place like that. It did. It bounded off the Microbe temple with a hurt-sounding thud and Harley went to the grass.

He did not quit the game, but he was so unsteady that he muffed Kennedy's fly in the eighth and the pitcher scored afterward on Beaumont's two-bagger.

Chicago scored its third run in the sixth. Two outs had been by Hadley, a three-bagger by Kling in the same spot as the home run by Harley home. The Pirates had Louis Gertenrich, a local man, playing right field today in place of Jimmy Sebring, who went home last night to be married. Gertenrich—

THE GIANTS BEATEN.

Hanlon's Batters Hit Mathewson's Curves Hard.

NEW YORK, July 21.—The New York and Brooklyn teams celebrated their return from the west with a very fast and snappily played game on the Brooklyn grounds today, which the home team won 4 to 1. Garvin pitched splendidly, holding the New Yorks to three hits in eight innings. The visitors scored their only run in the ninth on a single, an out and a double. The Brooklyns hit Mathewson in timely fashion, but Bowerman's error gave them the opportunity to score their first two runs in the second inning. Score:

THE BIG FIGHTERS READY FOR BATTLE

Corbett Lets Down on Heavy Work and Jeffries Seems to Be Taking Things Easy.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—Jim Corbett has slowed down a bit in his work for the coming fight. The big mill is near at hand and both men are in good shape. The bite Jeffries received from a pet bear, although a bit bad, has not stopped him in the least with his work.

Corbett is probably the first man who ever trained at Croll's and did gymnasium work in the morning. Many sports go over in the afternoon and evening to see the big fellow boxing with his sparring partners, but usually find him playing shuffleboard just before starting out on the road. At shuffleboard Jim really is a champion. Baseball is another great hobby of his.

Corbett is looking much better than he did a week or so ago, and has the same confidence in his ability. He has lost but two pounds since he commenced working and says he will stay at his present figure until the week of the contest. He will rest three or four days before the fight and expects to enter the ring weighing 185 pounds.

"I weigh more now than I ever did in my life," says Jim. "I only weighed 178 pounds when I fought Sullivan. I feel as strong as a bull, and I'll tell you there will be a couple of strong men in the ring the night of the fight."

HOWELL'S FINE FORM.

New York Pitcher Allows Cleveland but Two Hits.

NEW YORK, July 21.—New York outplayed Cleveland 3 to 2 today. Howell was in excellent shape and held the visitors to two hits, one of which was a home run by Hickman, who drove the ball out of the grounds. Wright had good control for four innings. Score:

WASHINGTON BEATEN.

Falls Before Kid Williams at Waynesburg, 6 to 5.

WAYNESBURG, PA., July 21.—(Special.)—Waynesburg ball fans are more jubilant tonight than for many a day, all because the local team today defeated Washington 6 to 5. This is the first defeat for Washington. In the ninth Owen made an error and this was followed by another by Morehead, and a misjudged fly by Ingham allowed four runners to score. Then the Kid Williams, however, struck out Erlser and Waynesburg had won. Score:

STAND FOR PEACE.

League Club Owners, However, Want a National Agreement.

NEW YORK, July 21.—(Special.)—The National league magnates continued their meeting last night until long after midnight. In fact it was almost daylight before they had threshed out the Elberfeld-Davis case and were ready to adjourn.

It was decided that the Cincinnati peace agreement had not been violated by the transfer of Elberfeld to this city, and that under the agreement Davis is ineligible to play in New York, although the National league admits that it is powerless to rule against Davis should it be proved by the courts of the state that he belongs to New York under his original contract. Expediency had a great deal to do with the decisions as did the fact that the players have announced they will hold a meeting in this city next Sunday to reorganize their association.

The National league came out very strong for the national agreement, which is a delicate hint tendered to Ban Johnson to get in line.

AN UGLY ACCIDENT ON BRIGHTON TRACK

Three Jockeys Were in the Mix-Up and Beauchamp Was Very Badly Hurt.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, July 21.—During the running of the second race at Brighton Beach today an accident occurred in which three horses fell. Beauchamp, one of the unfortunate jockeys, was badly hurt about the head and left side and suffered great agony. Michaels escaped with a cut on the head, while Cochran was unhurt.

The accident happened at the head of the stretch, where Cochran, on Ruth Parrish, attempted to come through on the rail. In doing so he bumped against High Wind and fell. Long Distance, with Michaels up, and Kingsboro, with Beauchamp up, stumbled and fell. Both Michaels and Beauchamp were stunned, and report had it that all three jockeys were killed. This, however, proved incorrect. Summaries:

First race, 6 furlongs—Operator, 123, Mathews, 5 to 1 and 2 to 1, won; Forward, 117, Burns, 9 to 1 and 3 to 1, second; Ingold, 124, Cochran, 8 to 1 and 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:14 1-5.

Second race, 6 furlongs, selling—Dinah Shad, 106, Burns, 8 to 5 and 3 to 5, won; Luminosity, 104, Redfern, 10 to 1 and 4 to 1, third; Ned Moore, 103, Fuller, 15 to 1 and 6 to 1, third. Time, 1:15.

Third race, handicap, 1¼ miles—Circus, 98, Redfern, 18 to 5 and even, won; Articulate, 116, Larson, 2 to 1 and 4 to 5, second; Sambo, 111, Odom, 8 to 5 and 3 to 5, third. Time, 2:07.

Fourth race, the Nautilus stakes, 1¼ miles, selling—Andy Williams, 116, Odom, 3 to 1 and even, won; Bellarin, 96, McCafferty, 8 to 1 and 3 to 1, second; Irascible, 99, Redfern, 15 to 1 and 5 to 1, third. Time, 1:53 3-5.

Fifth race, 6 furlongs—Jocund, 110, Burns, 7 to 5 and 4 to 5, won; Montana King, 110, Bullman, 9 to 2 and 8 to 5, second; Little Em, 102, Redfern, 8 to 1 and 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:14.

Sixth race, 8½ furlongs, selling—Khitai, 107, Dangman, 25 to 1 and 10 to 1, won; Blue Victor, 96, Redfern, 4 to 1 and 2 to 1, second; Anak, 110, Cochran, 40 to 1 and 12 to 1, third. Time, 1:48 2-5.

THE HAWTHORNE RACES.

Feature Event at Hawthorne Won by Nitrate.

CHICAGO, July 21.—The feature event at Hawthorne today, a handicap at 1¼ miles, was won by Nitrate. The winner finished galloping, two lengths in front of Zazel, a 50 to 1 shot. Medium just lasted long enough to beat the Conqueror a neck for the third place. Summary:

First race, 7 furlongs—Orroe, 102, Wonderly, 2 to 1, won; Ocean Dream, 102, W. Knapp, 10 to 1, second; Serge, 110, Helgeson, 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:27.

Second race, 5½ furlongs—Auditor, 105, Helgeson, even, won; Peter Paul, 114, Dominick, 8 to 5, second; Commodore, 105, H. Booker, 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:07 1-5.

Third race, handicap, 1¼ miles—Nitrate, 105, C. Gray, 11 to 5, won; Zazel, 90, Helgeson, 50 to 1, second; Modicum, 98, Adkins, 12 to 5, third. Time, 1:34 3-5.

Fourth race, 1 mile—Sidney Love, 99, Wonderly, 4 to 5, won; Glassful, 91, L. Wilson, even, second; Air Light, 94, Helgeson, 7 to 5, third. Time, 1:43 1-5.

CAUGHT IN A FOG.

Yesterday's Yacht Trial Races Proved a Fizzle.

VINEYARD HAVEN, MASS., July 21.—The New York Yacht club attempted to carry out the 24-hour race of 367 miles from Newport to this port today, but up to 8 o'clock tonight not a single yacht had shown up at the finish. The Columbia was last seen about 5:30 p. m. leading the fleet, at which time she was off Cuttyhunk. Soon after a thick fog shut in and the wind dropped, leaving the fleet drifting about at the entrance of Vineyard sound.

The day was a very unsatisfactory one from the early morning. After a thick fog, which almost thunder shower cleared away, the yachts left Newport harbor about 10 o'clock this morning in a northeasterly breeze. On getting outside they found the wind had shifted to the southeast, but it did not have a strength of more than four or five knots.

CHILD KIDNAPED THEN ABANDONED

IDENTITY IS DISCOVERED

Was Stolen from Home in Boston—Before She Could Be Restored to Uncle Negress Secures Her and Disappears. Police on the Hunt.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Young's Ocean Pier,
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 21.

What was thought to be a case of ordinary child desertion has developed into a kidnaping case that has the police on the run. Friday of last week a little girl, who said her name was Nellie Carter, was brought in to the bureau of The Pittsburgh Gazette and turned over to the matron for lost children. No frantic parent came to call for her at nightfall, as is usually the case, and the child was turned over to the police.

The police sent her to the Cronin cottage on Texas avenue to be cared for. Efforts to find a parent were fruitless and yesterday the police came to the conclusion that the child had been abandoned.

Last night she yielded to the kindness of Mrs. Cronin and told her that she had been brought from Boston by a woman who beat her and told her that she would be killed if she told anybody where she was from. She said that her father and mother were dead and that she lived with an uncle. A telegram was sent to Boston. A reply was received this afternoon that a child named Natalie Cartier, an orphan, who lived with her uncle, Frank J. Cartier, a well-known clubman and a Spanish-American war veteran, had been missing since Thursday, when she was taken out by her nurse.

Two newspaper correspondents hurried to the Cronin cottage to see the child and to establish her identity as Natelli Cartier. Mrs. Cronin said that a colored woman had called an hour before and said that she had been sent by the police for the child; that she was its aunt. The colored woman gave an address, but there is no such location in Atlantic City as she described. A search is being made for the negress and the child who, it is thought, are concealed in this city.

EMOTIONALISM IS A DETRIMENT

Dr. Earl Barnes at Chautauqua Lectures on Shortcomings of Women.

INTELLECTS ARE ALL RIGHT

But They Lack Sternness of Purpose and Are Too Much Inclined to Allow Their Sympathies to Spoil Them for Teaching of Science.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., July 21.—Women's week at Chautauqua is developing some strenuous ideas, the last of which is Dr. Earl Barnes' statement that women ought to vote and ought to be fined $25 every time they fail to vote.

The remark came incidentally in his lecture today on co-education. Dr. Barnes said: "The great impetus to the higher education of women came in this country about the year 1870. Since then the number of women teachers has increased until today our high schools and elementary education has passed into the hands of women and more than half our secondary education, and they are steadily taking possession of the higher education of the world. Wherever the doors are open equally to men and women, the women have increased upon the men steadily at the ratio of three or four per cent a year.

"The effect of putting education into the hands of a class is unfortunate. For one thing it effeminates the curriculum. Women are different in their intellectual interests from men. I base this conclusion on 12 years' experience in co-educational institutions in three geographical divisions of our country, Cornell, Indiana and Stanford. In an elective curriculum you will find the department of English literature full of women, while there will not be one in the class of quantitive and qualitative analysis.

"Take a curriculum built upon a scientific basis solely and I do not know of a single case where it is maintained. But a curriculum built upon the so-called humanities can be maintained. This is not because the scientific curriculum is not a proper basis, but because with 90 per cent of the teachers women, you cannot get a teacher qualified to teach the sciences. Boys must have contact with strong vigorous men at some time in their lives. Women have not been trained to give and take in public life to 'swallow their temper and know their men,' as Kipling said.

"Consequently you can take a large body of women like a great educational convention and handle them as one woman, and on almost any motion if you can get the affirmative presented first it will carry. There is a reaction taking place now. Chicago university, Stanford, the new president of Northwestern, and President Eliot of Harvard represent it and you can't explain it. Every reaction arouses the emotions and feelings which paralyze reason, and the time has come for a reasonable approach. In the first place we are committed absolutely to equal opportunities. We must raise the standard of teachers to the point that will keep out the "floaters." Then we must develop public opinion to the point where we require our boys and girls to come under the vigorous influence of man. In a word, let women put aside emotionalism and quit making things a personal matter."

FIRE AROUSED INMATES FROM THEIR SLEEP

Blaze in Bakery Cellar Caused Excitement--Families Occupying Seventh Avenue Flats.

A small blaze in the cellar of Ferdinand Santeni' bakery, at Seventh avenue and Grant boulevard, brought out the downtown fire department last night at 11:15 o'clock. A gas jet had been left burning in the cellar about an hour previous, and the flame from the jet ignited the shelving along the wall of the basement. The light and smoke attracted the attention of inmates of the flats above the bakery.

This discovery was followed by the alarm and the hasty exit of a dozen families from the flats, many of the inmates jumping out of their beds at the cry of fire and not stopping to dress. Women carried their children, while men came out loaded with clothing and other effects. The arrival of the firemen quieted their fears.

The fire was extinguished in a few minutes. The loss was not over $100.

WORKING IN SECRET ON LANGLEY FLYING MACHINE

WIDEWATER, VA., July 21.—(Special.)—Increased secrecy and 12 hours of hard work characterized the Langley airship expedition today, but no effort was made to launch the flying machine. The crowd of scientists and mechanics comprising the party began work on the houseboat anchored off Widewater at 7 o'clock this morning and did not suspend labor until the same hour this evening. Practically all of the work was done behind closed windows and none ventured outside the doors of the "Buzzard" except at rare intervals.

PERSONALS

John Blyth, the Pittsburgh coal operator, left yesterday for New York, whence he will sail for Europe on the Majestic. He was accompanied by J. W. Shields. Both will be in the old world for about six weeks. It will be Mr. Blyth's first visit to his native home, Edinburgh, Scotland, since he left there 50 years ago.

George Hughes, a clerk at the Seventh Avenue, returned from a two weeks' trip to Snow Highlands. While out fishing he landed a large trout. When he pulled it into the boat it fluttered and its fin struck Mr. Hughes above the eye, causing him to lose his balance. He fell into the water and sustained a painful injury.

A. E. Hummell of Bellevue, who was thrown out of a buggy at New Cumberland several days ago and painfully injured, his friend, John K. Born being killed, is recovering from his injuries. Mr. Hummell is at present at his home in Bellevue and his injuries are not at all serious.

E. J. Hedrickson of Cincinnati passed through the city last night. He had been in Atlantic City attending the annual convention of the Wholesale Saddler's association of the United States. He was elected president for the ensuing year. The next convention will be held in St. Louis.

Frank Mangles, clerk at the Victoria, returned yesterday from a two weeks' trip to Atlantic City, Philadelphia and New York.

Neighbors Visiting Pittsburgh.

The nearby residents registered at the local hotels last night were as follows:

Monongahela House—William J. Baer, Somerset; W. S. Hamilton, Fairmont; R. E. Humbert, Morgantown, and Edward F. Cochran, Apollo.

Lincoln—H. D. Townsend, Youngstown, and A. P. McKay, Columbus.

Victoria—C. H. Nicholson, Youngstown, and J. H. Smith, Franklin.

PITTSBURGHERS ARE IN THE LEAD

Elks Gain Votes of Cincinnati in Campaign for Convention in 1905.

OTHER CITIES IN THE FIGHT

Connellsville Delegation's Badge in Great Demand—Photographer Disappoints Allegheny Members--Arranged to Have Pictures Taken, but Man Didn't Come.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BALTIMORE, July 21.—Pittsburgh's boom for the meeting of the grand lodge of Elks opened today in earnest. The fight for next year's meeting was settled and the latter delegates declared themselves for Pittsburgh two years hence.

A tribute was paid to Pittsburgh today when John E. O'Donnell of that city was delegated to name George A. McDonald for grand secretary. T. A. Burke of Richmond was a candidate for grand secretary, as was also George E. Runyan of Kansas City, but Mr. O'Donnell's speech captivated the delegates and McDonald won out.

Tomorrow the fight for the meeting in 1905 will take place. Syracuse, N. Y., is making a fight for it. Portland, Ore., wants it. Hot Springs, Ark., is putting up a bluff, as is also Saratoga, but Pittsburgh has the lead.

Many badges of beauty and value are displayed. The badge worn by Pittsburgh did not attract especial attention as it is rather commonplace. The top is of brass, surmounted by the emblem of the order, the clock. Beneath is the seal of the city of and from this hangs an aluminum pendant. Upon this is a design emblematic of the glass, iron and coal interests and the home of plenty. Allegheny lodge has a yellow ribbon upon which is a button bearing the number of the lodge. The Connellsville lodge has as characteristic as any and they are much sought after. It consists of a purple ribbon and brass arrangement from which extends a piece of coke. The McKeesporters have a neat badge and Scottdale is here with two pieces of ribbon.

John Kalb, an enthusiastic Pittsburgh Elk, started today to exchange badges. His front was soon covered and at this writing he is endeavoring to pin them on his back. The members of Allegheny lodge are angry because they lost a half day waiting to have their pictures taken. Yesterday morning a young man brought Henry F. Staving, who has charge of the Allegheny delegation, and told him a certain Pittsburgh newspaper desired a picture of the lodge. Arrangements were made to have a photographer at the headquarters of the Allegheny lodge at the noon hour. Mr. Staving spent the entire morning in herding up his flock of Elks. Each member endeavored to look his best and at the appointed time the entire delegation assembled, but no man with a camera came. After waiting two hours it was impossible to keep the drove together and they made a vain search to discover the man without the camera.

The following officers were elected today: Grand exalted ruler, Joseph T. Fanning, Indianapolis, Ind.; grand esteemed leading knight, Charles A. Kelly, Boston; grand esteemed loyal knight, Richard J. Wood, Sioux Falls, S. D.; grand esteemed lecturing knight, C. F. Tomlinson, Winslow, N. C.; grand secretary, George A. Reynolds, Saginaw, Mich. (tenth term); grand treasurer, Samuel H. Needs, Cleveland, O.; grand tyler, Charles W. Kaufman, Hoboken, N. J. (re-elected). Robert W. Brown, Louisville, Ky., was elected a grand trustee to serve three years.

Reports of the grand officers show that 81 new lodges were organized during the year, making the total membership 165,722. Pennsylvania leads with 13,250 members. The general treasury has now on hand $49,000. The amount of money on hand March 31, 1902, was $1,009,879 and from March 31, 1902, to March 31, 1903, the total amount received was $2,925,535.78. The total amount expended during the year was $2,750,365.57.

ALL STATEMENTS POINT TO MURPHY'S RETURN

Belief Growing Stronger That He Will Become Allegheny's Safety Director.

Despite attempts to discredit the report that John R. Murphy is to become director of public safety of Allegheny after the November election, there is no one with the authority to speak for either Wyman or Murphy who seems disposed to contradict the story.

Henry Muth, ex-superintendent of police of Allegheny, has just returned from Mt. Clemens, where he has been with Murphy since early in April. Muth said:

"Well, I would not be surprised. I have heard it said that Murphy might accept some position in the Wyman cabinet, but I am not prepared to say how true it is. It would not surprise me to see John back in city hall again."

To those that know the relations between Muth and Murphy this statement is significant.

Thomas B. Scandrett, director of public safety, when asked regarding his alleged denials, said: "I have been misquoted and did not deny that Murphy was coming back, for I know nothing about it. Then he added: "But you can say for me, there are worse men in Allegheny than John Murphy."

Director McIlvain refused to talk further on the matter yesterday, and said: "I have given you my opinion; now get the mayor to talk. He probably knows all about it."

LONG NEEDLE TAKEN FROM CHILD'S NECK

A needle an inch long was yesterday taken from the neck of Mary Wagoner, the two-year-old daughter of George Wagoner of No. 714 Hall street, Allegheny, by Dr. A. C. Hill. Monday morning the child swallowed the needle and yesterday she complained to her mother that her throat pained her. Upon examining the girl's throat Dr. Hill discovered the needle had worked its way into the neck. After the skin was broken the needle was drawn out. The child is none the worse for her experience.

SOCIETY

AN UNUSUALLY large number of mid-summer weddings are scheduled for this week. Prominent among them is the wedding of Miss Mary Taggart Hare and William Mitchell Whitten tomorrow. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Hare, in Spahr street.

The marriage of Miss Ada Bendle and Augustus Cherry Feighter, which is to be an event of today, will be an exceedingly pretty affair in green and white. The ceremony, at the Bendle home, will be solemnized by the Rev. Harry J. Main of Sharpsburg. Miss Helen Margaret Stitz, a niece of the bride, Frank Grey and Malcolm Cherry, will be included in the bridal party.

The wedding of Miss Laura Moorehead Lutes and Frederick C. McConnell, was a pretty home ceremony taking place last evening. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Mary Lutes of Boggs avenue, Mt. Washington.

A number of Pittsburghers will attend the wedding at Altoona today of Miss Ida Hetherington Cox and Jones Edgar Rollins. This will also be a home event, and will be followed by a large reception.

Invitations were issued some time ago by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Scott of Norwood for the wedding of their daughter, Miss Edna May Scott, to Hugh Hall Rodgers, Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Rodgers. These two will be wedded tomorrow at the home of the bride with the Rev. O. Newton Verner of the First Presbyterian church of McKeesport, as officiant. Miss Mabel Harris of Beaver will be the honor maid and Mr. Rodgers' best man will be A. D. Rodgers. The ushers will be Porter and Walker Scott.

This evening in Bradenville Miss Sara C. Hill will become the wife of Walter J. Sheets. The bride-elect is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hill.

Fifty Years Married.

A reception for their many friends and relatives was held yesterday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Woodward Jamison of Beatty street, East End. The hours were from 4 to 6 o'clock. The affair was a celebration of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Jamison, who were married July 21, 1853, the ceremony taking place at Boothsville, W. Va. Mrs. Jamison was Miss Mary Wilson, a daughter of Greenberry Wilson. The bridegroom of 50 years ago was born in 1826, nine years before his bride. He is a native of Indiana county. After several years spent in operating canal boats, Mr. Jamison learned the trade of millwright and removed to Boothsville, where he met his wife. At the outbreak of the civil war the Jamisons came north to Butler county, later moving to Jeannette and finally to the East End.

Both Mr. Jamison and his wife are members of the Emory Methodist Episcopal church in North Highland avenue. Eleven of their 12 children are living. They are: Albert T. Jamison of Toledo, O.; William Wilson of Butler, John B. Jamison of East Pittsburgh, Arthur L. Jamison of Pittsburgh, Harry V. Jamison, Robert R. Jamison, Mrs. W. W. Whitehead, Mrs. A. M. Hutchison, Mrs. Virgil's Frame, Mrs. George Robinsteen and Miss Katherine L. Jamison, the latter the only child living at home.

A McKeesport Wedding.

A quiet wedding took place in McKeesport Tuesday morning when Miss Sara Forsythe Conrom and Harry W. Nisly, Jr., were married at the home of the bride's father, F. H. Conrom, in Petty street. The Rev. James M. Miles of the First Methodist Episcopal church of McKeesport, performed the ceremony. The bride is a member of one of the pioneer families of the Monongahela valley, her grandfather having been one of the first settlers in McKeesport. For the past three years she has been a teacher in the McKeesport public schools. Mr. Nisly is a former editor of the Warren Times, but is now in business in Pittsburgh, where he and his bride will make their home.

Interesting Meetings in Oakmont.

Mrs. Frank Jackman and Mrs. Ernest Levi of Oakmont, members of the Oakmont Woman's club of the civic committee, are holding interesting meetings in the assembly room of the Oakmont public library during the summer. The purpose of the meetings is to bring closer together the mothers and teachers of the school children, so that they may understand each other better and each know what the other is doing for the children. Short informal talks are given at each meeting and much good is expected to result from the efforts of those two ladies. Mrs. Levi was for several years connected with the Kingsley House, under the Rev. Dr. Hodges.

Pittsburgher Married in Leechburg.

LEECHBURG, PA., July 21.—(Special.)—A pretty wedding here today was that of Miss Grace J. Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Miller of this place, recently of McKeesport, to I. Clark Munden of Pittsburgh. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents at noon by the Rev. N. Munden of Pittsburgh, father of the groom, assisted by the Rev. P. C. Brooks of this place. The bride was given away by her father. The couple spend their honeymoon in the east, and be at home at No. 5909 Rippey street, East End, Pittsburgh, after August 1.

McClure—Lippincott.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Gertrude McClure, daughter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. McClure, living in South Franklin street, Washington, and the Rev. Rudolph P. Lippincott of Donora. The wedding will be a prominent one in Washington society. It takes place in the Third Presbyterian church of Washington tomorrow. The bride-elect is a graduate of the Washington seminary, class of '99, and the Rev. Mr. Lippincott is a graduate of the Washington and Jefferson college of the same class. He is pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Donora.

Wedded in Tiffin, O.

Miss Julia A. Bowersox, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Bowersox of No. 510 McNaid street, Wilkinsburg, and Harry Reese James of Parker avenue, Braddock, were married yesterday afternoon at Tiffin, O. The service was performed by the bride's uncle, a Methodist minister of Tiffin. Mr. and Mrs. James will tour the great lakes, and in the fall will take up housekeeping in their new home in Parker avenue, Braddock.

Crocius Club Reception.

The members of the Crocious club will hold a reception tomorrow evening in Homestead park. A large number of invitations have been issued and the reception will be quite a handsome affair. The committee in charge includes Charles J. Hammett, John F. Dittman, Jr., Ralph Davis, Carl D. Elrick, Philip A. Kinley, Harry R. Skirboll, R. Milo M'Anulty and Harry J. Hawes.

Annual Boating Party.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wade of "Robinswood," Hulton, have chartered the steamer Mayflower, and today will give their annual boating party up the Monongahela. Their guests are the workers of St. Thomas' Protestant Episcopal church of Oakmont, of which the Rev. Dr. Laurens McLure is rector. Dr. McLure and his family are at present in Atlantic City.

Children's Party.

Invitations have been issued by Miss Maud Garlick for a children's party to be given this afternoon at her home in Lytle street, Hazelwood. The hours are from 3 to 5:30 o'clock. Honors will be shared by two cousins of the hostess, Miss Fannie Speer of Wyandotte, Mich., and Miss Ethel Garlich of Hazelwood.

In Honor of a House Guest.

Miss Bertha Cartwright of Moundsville, W. Va., was the honor guest last evening at a very pretty informal affair given by Miss Sadie Siebert of Rosedale street, Brighton, with whom Miss Cartwright is visiting. About 25 guests were invited to attend. Miss Seibert's home was daintily decorated for the occasion.

McConegly—O'Brien.

Miss May McConegly, daughter of Mrs. Kate McConegly of Ninth avenue, Homestead, was married yesterday to Lee F. O'Brien, a McKeesport business man, at the home of the bride's mother, the Rev. J. J. Bullion of St. Matthews' Roman Catholic church officiating.

NEW YORK, July 21.—(Special.)—These Pittsburghers will sail Wednesday for England on the American liner St. Paul: J. F. Atchison, Dr. C. E. Lineman, Mrs. J. S. Marshall, J. E. Marshall, the Rev. W. E. McCulloch.

Mrs. McKinley Entertains Old Friends.

CANTON, O., July 21.—(Special.)—Miss Hattie Gault and Miss Kutchen of Media, Pa., are the guests of Mrs. Ida McKinley of North Market street. Miss Gault was years ago Mrs. McKinley's teacher at Miss Eastman's seminary, "Brook Hall," in Media, Pa. Mrs. McKinley and Mrs. Gault were students at that school after they had been graduated from the Canton high school. The two guests arrived in the city Tuesday morning and were driven about the city, after which they paid a visit to the McKinley tomb at Westlawn cemetery with Mrs. McKinley. They will be entertained at the McKinley home for several days.

CHAUTAUQUA MERGER IS SUSTAINED IN COURT

Suit of F. W. McKee of Pittsburgh and Others Dismissed by Judge Hazel.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUFFALO, July 21.—(Special.)—The suit brought last October by F. W. McKee, a Pittsburgh lawyer, and others, for dissolution of the Chautauqua institute, was dismissed today in a decision by Judge Hazel in the United States circuit court. The complainants alleged that trustees of the institution had so manipulated affairs that property of the institute at Chautauqua was heavily involved in debt.

The property at Chautauqua was originally known as Chautauqua assembly, Chautauqua university and Chautauqua School of Theology. By an act of the New York legislature in March 1902, these institutions were all merged into the Chautauqua institute under management of a board of trustees. The complainants also asked in their petition that this act of the legislature be declared invalid.

PITTSBURGHERS WIN.

Ladies' singles—Miss McAteer beat Miss Martha Kinsey, 7 to 5, 6 to 0.

In the mixed doubles Miss McAteer and Dr. Stephens beat Miss Dodd and E. R. Patterson, 6 to 2, 6 to 4. Men's singles—Dr. Stephens beat Thomas McLaughlin, 6 to 5, 6 to 2.

In the men's doubles Stephens and R. G. Hunt of Pittsburgh beat Morris and Black, 6-0, 6-2, 6-0.

Milkmen Must Register.

Owing to the increased sale of adulterated milk in the city, Director Harry Moore of the department of public safety issued an order yesterday to all milk dealers and dairymen, wholesale and retail, to register with the bureau of health, according to the provisions of the act of 1875. Another class of dealers that have attracted Director Moore's attention are certain butchers who have been making a practice of selling meats that have been preserved with a chemical fluid.

MINISTERS ARE NOW DEFENDANTS

Steeplechase Amusement Co. Enters Suit Against Crusaders for Conspiracy.

$20,000 DAMAGES ARE ASKED

Plaintiff Charges Defendants With Conspiring to Injure Their Business at Kennywood Park—Church People Say Prosecutions Will Continue.

Crusading by self-appointed bands and their right to prosecute alleged violators of the Pennsylvania blue laws is to be tested in the Allegheny county courts. The action is the first of its kind ever brought in this county and it will probably be carried to the higher courts before it is finally settled. The suit is the outcome of the prosecutions entered against the management and employes of the Steeplechase Amusement Company, which operates at Kennywood park. The amusement company in its bill of complaint charges several well-known ministers and laymen of Homestead and Braddock with conspiracy, and asks for $20,000 damages.

The Steeplechase Amusement Company entered its suit in common pleas court No. 3 yesterday through O'Brien & Ashley, attorneys for the company. The defendants named in the suit are the Rev. W. F. Stada, the Rev. O. H. Phillips, the Rev. W. C. Weaver, the Rev. Charles A. Bragden, A. M. Scott, Thomas E. Tomlinson, John Hulse, H. Dana Rolf and John Wilson.

The company says it is chartered to provide amusements at Kennywood park and that it has expended over $100,000 in the erection of buildings; the entertainments are innocent, healthful and beneficial, and no gambling devices, intoxicating liquors or disorder is allowed. The plaintiff avers that the defendants are not instituting the proceedings in good faith and for the enforcement of the law on all citizens alike, but are using the act and penalties provided to hurt the plaintiff and to compel it to relinquish its lease of the park, to the plaintiff's great loss and detriment.

Attorney Charles A. O'Brien, who represents the Steeplechase Company in the suit, yesterday said the Sunday prosecutions against the amusement company are an outgrowth of the fight and that the backing the crusaders have shigled out the amusement company, but refuse to take action against the large manufacturing concerns and railroads and railway companies.

The crusade by the church people against Kennywood park has been going on since shortly after the park opened in the early summer. About 25 suits have so far been brought by the men named in the suit as defendants, and in each case managers and employes of the amusement company were fined $25 and costs by Justice George W. Giles of Homestead. In a number of the suits appeals have been taken to court.

At a meeting of church people in Homestead last evening the new turn of affairs was discussed at length and it was decided to renew the crusade with vigor. The Homestead and Braddock ministers last evening stated that the suit was entered by the amusement company in the hope of frightening the ministers and church people to have the prosecutions stopped.

FOUR MEN SHOT DOWN OVER A GAME OF CARDS

One Was Killed and Another Mortally Wounded Near Morgantown, W. Va.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MORGANTOWN, W. VA., July 21.—As a result of a fight over cards at Opeiska, last night, Thomas Carter was killed, Charles Lewis mortally wounded and William Pensen and Henry Horner badly hurt. All are negroes in the employ of the T. A. Gillespie Company, building the lock and dam on the Monongahela at Opeiska.

The shooting was done, it is charged, by Robert Hyer, also a negro, who made his escape. Hyer accused Carter of cheating. This started the fight. All were armed with revolvers and all made a demonstration against Hyer, who stood his ground, it is said, and coolly shot down four of his foes.

Hyer got away unhurt amid a fusillade of bullets. He is thought to be in hiding in Marion county and officers there are looking for him.

Pittsburgh Druggists Are Named.

LANCASTER, PA., July 21.—William C. Fralley, president of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical association, among delegates to the meeting at Mackinac island, Charles L. Hay, of DuBois; committee on membership, John B. Haley, New Castle; William Allen, Allegheny, and S. Siegfried, Pittsburgh; on papers and queries, Dr. Julius A. Koch and Dr. Louis Emanuel of Pittsburgh.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

CLARKSBURG, W. VA.—R. M. Smith, aged 28, of Cogers, was killed by falling under an engine.

DONORA, PA.—David Lytle, a carpenter, dropped dead at the gate of his home. Death was due to hemorrhage.

SALEM, O.—Myers & Wengrow, clothiers, made an assignment to John E. Scott, attorney, for the benefit of their creditors.

FRANKLIN, PA.—George Wenzel, 14 years old, met death by being caught in an elevator shaft at the Exchange hotel, where he was employed.

EASTON, PA.—Easton defeated the proposition to increase the bonded indebtedness $184,552, to make permanent improvements, by a majority of 716.

BELLEFONTE, PA., July 21.—A severe hail storm passed over Centre county, doing great damage to young crops and fruit. Oats were crushed to the ground.

DONORA, PA.—The Donora Ice & Cold Storage Company began operations. The plant's capacity of 30 tons daily will be increased in the near future.

WASHINGTON, PA.—The quarterly conference of Wright's chapel, African Methodist Zion church, voted for the return of their pastor, the Rev. M. F. A. Easton.

KITTANNING, Pa.—During an electrical storm Samuel H. Richardson's barn was struck by lightning and entirely consumed with all its contents. The loss is $1,000.

WARREN, O.—Andrew Peterman, aged 66, who lived at the East End hotel, was found dead in bed. A bottle of strychnine was found, but there was nothing to indicate suicide. He left a note giving the address of a son.

MORGANTOWN, W. VA.—In spite of the fact that the position pays $2,200 a year, there are no applicants to the deanship of the law school of the West Virginia university, made vacant by the death recently of Judge Okey Johnson.

LATROBE, PA.—Dorsey Klein, a lineman in the employ of the Latrobe Street Railway Company, was run down by a repair car near Woodlawn park, crushing his left leg. It was amputated at the Westmoreland hospital.

GREENSBURG, PA.—The annual camp meeting services at Midgeview park will begin the first week in August, to continue 10 days. They will be in charge of the Rev. Silas T. Mitchell, P. E., presiding elder of the Blairsville district.

GREENSBURG, PA.—John H. Bortz of Unity township was elected to fill a vacancy in the Main school faculty and Miss Blanche E. Ruff of Greensburg and Miss Eleanor I. Evans of Hempfield township were chosen for the primary grades.

UNIONTOWN, PA.—The proposition to issue $150,000 worth of bonds carried by 86 majority, the vote being 2,784 for and 2,698 against. The opponents of the measure question the legality of the election, claiming a violation of law by an open ballot in three of the four wards.

GREENSBURG, PA.—Almost the entire force of detectives in the employ of the Pennsylvania railroad on the Pittsburgh division has been sent to the Southwest branch to run down the gang of thieves thought to be responsible for recent robberies at Scottdale and Everson.

CHARTIERS VALLEY TRAIN GOES THROUGH TRESTLE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, PA., July 21.—The collapsing of a trestle at Morganza, on the Chartiers Valley railroad, today, while a freight train was passing over it will probably cost the life of one man, while three more were badly injured. They are:

HENRY LEPRO, aged 45, conductor, Washington; crushed about hips and injured internally; brought to the Washington hospital and will likely die.

JOHN P. CARPENTER, brakeman, West Washington; cut about the head and hurt internally; brought to Washington hospital.

MARK W. STEDMAN, brakeman, Washington; ankle wrenched and badly bruised about the body; brought to Washington hospital.

C. EARL RUSH, flagman, Washington; right shoulder dislocated and badly bruised; brought to his home.

The trestle was temporary. All but four loaded coal cars and the caboose had passed over when the framework toppled. The four cars and the caboose were turn from the rest of the train and plunged down a steep embankment.

All the injured men were in the caboose at the time of the accident and were pinioned in the wreckage. Carpenter and Lepro were wedged in the timbers and had to be released with axes and crowbars.

ROCHESTER, PA., July 21.—(Special.)—The big culvert on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad east of Industry fell with a crash this afternoon, just two minutes before the fast passenger train leaving Rochester at 2:10 o'clock rang, at the point of crossing. The train is due at the culvert some time before it arrived today. The culvert was 20 feet wide and 25 feet high and carried two tracks. William Rodgers was standing on the bank when the culvert fell and he rushed back along the track with a red flag. The train stopped a good distance away.

INDUSTRIALS WERE FIERCELY RAIDED

U. S. Steel Pounded All Day and Broke to New Low Prices—Several Times the Market Presented Panicky Conditions.

By JOHN O. EAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The feature of the eastern stock market yesterday was the fierce drive made against the industrials. The movement began at the opening with United States Steel preferred, which was quoted ex-dividend of 1¾ per cent and started a fraction lower at 74, breaking violently to 72 and carrying other industrial stocks down with it. These drives were repeated from time to time throughout the day, and at 11 o'clock and just before the close of the day the market was bordering upon a panic in this class of stocks. There was little evidence of support in this group, but the small natural rallies that occurred were met with an outpour of long stock which carried prices to new low records. United States Steel common held relatively firmer than the preferred during the early part of the day, and it was reported that some of the large interests were switching their preferred stock into the common on the basis of one share of the former for three shares of the latter, for the purpose of making a speculative turn in the market. In the late dealings the common was fully as weak as the preferred, breaking to 22, while the preferred sold at 70. The latter price is within a point of the extreme low record for the preferred established in the panic of May 9, 1901, while the common stock sold 2 points below all previous records. During the early part of the day the heaviest selling of the preferred was by a prominent Chicago-New York house, which threw 10,000 shares on the market. Later the same firm was credited with buying the common stock, and it was this which caused a slight rally. In the closing half hour a prominent professional trader who has been successful in the bear movement of the past few weeks, and who has been predicting that the liquidation which has been running through the railroads would eventually extend to the industrials, pounded the market vigorously, catching stop-loss orders and producing considerable demoralization. Tennessee Coal and Iron broke to 41½, a new low record, and Colorado Fuel and Iron sold down to 40, a decline of a point below the previous low level of the year. The American Locomotive stocks established new low prices, as did also Republic Iron and Steel preferred, which broke to 67. United Realty Construction broke through 12, while the preferred scored a loss of 5 per cent, selling down to 51½. Amalgamated Copper declined to its previous low record, and Sugar came within a fraction of the lowest on this movement.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙

In the railroad list there was a little better feeling and there was an absence of the selling pressure on the high-class stocks which has been so noticeable of late. There were exceptions, however, even here, and at times some of the specialties displayed great weakness. The attacks upon the Rock Island issues were continued and the common broke to 24 and the preferred to 64, being the lowest ever quoted. Missouri, Kansas & Texas preferred at 35¾, Southern Pacific at 44¼ and Metropolitan at 115½ represented the lowest prices of the year. Louisville & Nashville dropped to the low price established last Wednesday and closed at the lowest. Pennsylvania, New York Central, St. Paul, Missouri Pacific and Atchison all ruled comparatively firm during the early part of the session, but later in the day sold off on the weakness in the industrials. Illinois Central rallied 2½ per cent on the favorable statement of net earnings for June and held most of the gain. Among the specialties Panhandle common broke to 63½, but almost immediately recovered to 69. The Reading issues were conspicuously firm, which strengthened the impression that there was competitive buying of the stock, but the Erie were irregular, owing to the uncertainty regarding the action of the directors on the dividend. The general market closed active and feverish, the industrials at the lowest and the railroads showing only small net changes compared with the close on Monday. The sales were 823,000 shares.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙

Aside from railroad earnings, which were uniformly favorable, there was little news having a bearing upon the market. The weekly report of the weather bureau on the condition of the crops was fairly satisfactory, showing that while the temperature had been low for the season, the corn crop had suffered no bad effect. After the close of the market it was announced that the Erie directors had declared a dividend of 2 per cent on the first preferred stock, thereby meeting expectations in that matter. Call money ruled easy within the range of 2 to 3 per cent, closing at 2 per cent. According to report, however, there was calling of loans in which the industrials figured as collateral, and as the discrimination appeared to be general, the collateral had to be sacrificed. This was the explanation for a part of the hasty liquidation near the close of the day, and the weakness of the market was aggravated by the action of the professional bear traders in attacking those stocks in which forced liquidation appeared. Sentiment at the close of the market was rather gloomy, and it was feared that unless supporting orders appeared lower prices would be made on the industrials.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙

The local stock market was again entirely under the influence of the events in Wall street. The business was well distributed and the declines uniform, everything on the list showing net losses where there was any change from the last previous sale. The heaviest trading was in United States Steel. The common broke from 25¼ to 23 and the preferred from 73¾ ex-dividend to 70½. These prices represent a net decline of 2¼ per cent on the common and 3½ per cent on the preferred. Crucible Steel common opened a fraction lower at 12 and broke a dollar a share to 11, closing at the low point. The preferred stock broke to 74⅜, representing a net loss for the day of 2¼ per cent. The lowest prices of the day occurred just before the close, when the greatest weakness was prevailing in the eastern market. Pittsburgh Coal common broke to 25¾ and the preferred to 84. River Coal common declined to 10¼ and the preferred to 38¾, but the dealings in both were light. Westinghouse Electric was dull, only about 500 shares changing hands at prices ranging from 87 to 86, closing at 86½. Airbrake declined a dollar to 153. In the banking and trust company group German American Savings and Trust advanced a point to 161. The other members of this group which showed any change were 2 to 5 per cent lower. River Coal bonds sold unchanged at 113½. The market closed weak and unsettled.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The slump in United States Steel stocks knocked about $40,000,000 off the market value of the outstanding capital yesterday, and brought the capitalized par value of $1,000,000,000 in round numbers, down to $460,000,000. The effect of the decline was more widespread than that in any other single stock in the market, because United States Steel stocks are distributed among about 90,000 holders, including the 28,000 employes who early in the year participated in the profit-sharing plan. Since last January, when this plan was announced, there has been a decline of about $20 a share in the preferred stock and $18 a share in the common stock, representing a total shrinkage in market values of both classes of stock of about $150,000,000. When a market is in a condition like that at present is, it is useless to quote anything of a favorable character regarding a property, but it may not be out of place to recall the fact that the United States Steel Corporation is in a financially strong position. Its current bills are all paid, its stock and bond conversion plan has provided the money needs for improvements for years to come, and according to its semi-annual report submitted this month, when the dividends on the preferred stock were declared, it had about $65,000,000 cash in its treasury. It is therefore in a better position than some of the large and perfectly sound railroad companies which have been compelled to resort to the banks for money to continue extensions and improvements. The shrinkage in market value is entailing a loss upon persons who are carrying the stock on margin, and it is reducing the borrowing capacity of those business men who have bought the stock outright and who from time to time pledge their securities in bank for loans in the course of their general business. Persons who have bought the stock for the dividends may be subject to temporary loss, because the dividends have been declared on both classes of stock and will be paid, the preferred on August 15 to stock of record July 21, and the common in September 30 to stock of record September 9.

The conviction is growing that the continued downward movement in the stock market is the result more of personal differences between large interests in the street than to any radical or unfavorable change in the business situation. Some of the leading bankers and banking houses in New York, in a letter to a local house yesterday, stated that there was grounds for the statement that within the next few days, or weeks at most, developments would occur that would explain the stock market situation without the aid of philosophical abstractions. The Wall Street Journal yesterday stated that it had absolute knowledge that negotiations are now under way between financial interests for the settlement of the differences between the Pennsylvania railroad and George J. Gould, and says: "There is reason to believe that these negotiations will result in a complete and satisfactory settlement, that the financiers who have taken hold of the matter are not men who commonly meet with failure in their undertakings. The importance of these negotiations can scarcely be overestimated. Mr. Gould's plans for securing an approach to sidewater for his system of railroads, and especially his desire for an entry into New York, have met, as might be expected, with the determined opposition of the Pennsylvania railroad, and the contest between these two great interests has been one of the clouds hovering over the financial situation. It was announced last week that the Rockefeller and Morgan interests in the New York Central were united in the policy of maintaining that company as a part of the independent trunk line system, and it meant that Mr. Gould would not be permitted to get control of the New York Central. There are, however, other ways of satisfying Mr. Gould's ambition without disturbing the present control of the other great trunk line systems, and the pending negotiations are conducted along the lines of least resistance. The outlook now is that Mr. Gould will secure his entrance in New York over the Lehigh Valley, and the 200,000 outstanding shares of this company, less than 200,000 are held by the Pennsylvania, the Reading and the Lake Shore. The bulk of the remainder is in the hands of estates and institutions most of which have held the stock for many years. It is probable that if Mr. Gould undertook to secure the Lehigh Valley by purchasing its stock, he would be met by such a valuation placed upon the property as to make control too expensive, but there are other ways of uniting the line to the Gould system, and the most feasible way that appears at present is that most of these 200,000 shares will be the differences between Mr. Gould and the Pennsylvania railroad that should involve the entrance of the Gould system into New York, would be based only upon absolute assurances that the Gould system would maintain the peace of the railroad world. A settlement therefore carries with it the guarantee that there shall be no war of rates."

Mr. Fred. C. Masten and Mr. George M. Paisley have been admitted into the firm of A. E. Masten & Co., the Fourth avenue bankers and brokers. Mr. Paisley has been manager for the firm for many years and Mr. Fred C. Masten, who is a brother of the head of the firm, has been treasurer for a number of years.

The net earnings of Louisville & Nashville for June increased $55,000, and for 12 months of the fiscal year, the net increased $1,055,000. The stock yesterday sold down to the lowest of the year.

The net earnings of Illinois Central for June increased $250,000, and for 12 months increased $697,000.

Franklin Trust was offered on the local board at 61. There was no bid. North American Savings offered at 148. Iron City Trust was quoted at 143½ bid.

Just before the close of the local board Hill & Co. sold to E. Wink a block of 1,000 shares United States Steel preferred at 70½. This was the largest individual transaction of the day.

Harris, Gates & Co. and Savin were the largest sellers of the steel stocks on the New York board yesterday.

Panhandle common sold yesterday at 63½ and rallied to 69. One week ago the stock sold at 72.

The low point on United States Steel new 5s yesterday was 78¾, a decline of 1¾ per cent.

River Coal stocks held steadier than anything else in the local market yesterday. The company was very successful in its late loan of coal to the southern manufacturing interests, and upon this movement the New Orleans Times-Democrat says: "The Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke Company has succeeded in getting coal from Louisville to Vicksburg, delivering over 100 boats of coal, which will be brought on from Cairo to New Orleans by the J. R. Finley. Alice Brown, Joseph R. Williams and Raymond Hoover, Standard Oil men, have only to be conveyed when the Canseyville only four boats at a trip could be taken through the chute. It was the general opinion of well-informed boatmen when they left Louisville that they would have no trouble on the trip, but the successful termination of the trip only goes to show what indomitable pluck and perseverance will do. This is the first time that an entire fleet of coal barges in charge of water has been carried through, and the officers in charge may well be congratulated."

Wall street sentiment was depressed at the close of the market yesterday. One house wired: "As to the future of the market it is idle to look for any substantial rally as long as the liquidation continues. Today's liquidation was especially severe in the Steel stocks, but there is naturally a feeling of apprehension it may break out in other departments of the market."

United States Steel preferred pays 10 per cent at the current market price and the common nearly 20 per cent. This yield will no doubt be tempting to those buyers who are in a position to purchase outright and have the patience to wait for a change in the market situation. The only parallel in this respect is furnished by American Sugar, which paid 21½ per cent in dividends in 1893, in which year the stock fluctuated between 61⅜ to 134⅝. During the six years following the company paid 124 per cent in annum in cash dividends, and yet in three of those years the stock sold at from 5 to 25 per cent under par.

The National Steel & Wire Company has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock, payable August 5 to stockholders of record July 22.

The directors of the Pullman Company have declared the regular quarterly dividend of $2, payable August 15 to stockholders of record July 31.

The directors of the H. B. Claflin Company have declared the regular quarterly dividends of 1¾ per cent on the first preferred stock and 1¾ per cent on the second preferred, both payable August 1.

A New York dispatch after the close of the market said: "The sharp break in United States Steel shares just before the close was due chiefly to Harris, Gates & Co., who had put out the largest amount during the morning. Brokers on the floor said that without doubt this represented liquidation of long stock. Prominent interests identified with the United States Steel Corporation, when asked today whether they could give any assurance that the dividend on the common stock would continue indefinitely and would not stop temporarily after the next payment, as some have alleged, said that it was not their policy to announce the course of progress a long time in advance, but at the same time they declared that there was nothing in the condition of the company's affairs that indicated a change from a dividend basis. They attributed the decline in the stock to the bear party."

Keystone Laundry Co. Buys Large Plot at Merriman and South Seventeenth Streets.

NO. 1016 FIFTH AVENUE SOLD

Federal Street Sale of $22,000—Broad Street House Sold for $27,000—Ten New Houses Change Owners—New Building Projects.

The Keystone Lumber Company has secured one more of the few remaining railroad sites on the South Side, for $65,000. The property was lately owned by the Philadelphia Company, that concern having taken it from the Consolidated Gas Company when the latter was merged with it some time ago. It consists of 241x221 feet, at the northeast corner of Merriman and South Seventeenth streets. Twenty-eighth ward. On the north side of the property the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad runs a distance of 250 feet, making it very desirable for yards. It adjoins the plant of the United States Glass Company, and is directly across Seventeenth street from the Edwin Bell & Sons Co. property. A few old shacks are the only buildings on the lot, and these are to be torn down to give place to lumber sheds and office. In view of its location and facilities for shipping, the price paid, $1.22 a square foot, is thought reasonable, as other plots less favorably located on the South Side have recently been sold for considerably more.

Two Sales Beyond the Hump.

Two sales in the outer Fifth avenue district were announced yesterday, showing that in spite of the apparent dullness there the market is still in good condition. The larger deal was made by Samuel W. Black & Co., who sold for the Mary E. Wylie estate to a local business man, No. 1016 Fifth avenue, for $31,500. The lot is on the south side of the avenue, opposite Washington street, and measures 21x112 feet. It is a corner, and on it there is a two-story brick store in front and a three-story house in the rear, which are well rented. The sale is at the rate of $1,500 a front foot.

The other sale was made by I. Goldstein, until lately a member of the Fifth Avenue Realty Company, to Barth & Barth. he sold to Lichtenstein Bros. Nos. 25-25 Federal street, near Fifth avenue, for $22,000. The lot is 40x122 feet and has a three-story brick building. The property, which was bought for an investment, stands the new owners at $550 a front foot.

Deals in East End.

The East End came in for rather more than its share of business yesterday, all of the deals being for residence properties. The most important announcement was the closing of the sale of the David G. Gillespie property in the Nineteenth ward to Alexander R. Peacock, the pending sale of which was announced some time ago. The lot is 80x223 1/2 feet, on the south side of North Highland avenue and extends through to Farragut street. It adjoins Mr. Peacock's magnificent residence and was bought for $30,000.

On the north side of Broad street, near Sheridan street, same ward, William Sheaffer sold to George M. Koser a fine brick residence for $27,000. The lot is 40x100 feet and the purchase, it is said, was made for a home.

Three other deals, each running over $10,000, for the same properties are booked for closing this week. Two are for residence properties, one being a large plot of vacant frontage, and the third is for a business property in East Liberty.

Ten New Houses Bring $31,500.

The deeds have been delivered in the sale of 10 of the new houses which John F. Sweeney built last year in the Twenty-first ward in the Lincoln avenue district, the total consideration being $31,500. The houses are frame and brick-veneered dwellings, containing six and eight rooms each. The buyers and their respective purchases follow: Wilfred H. Fogle, 25x85 feet, on the east side of Olivant street, $2,500; Jane E. Elder, 25x100 feet, on the east side of Olivant street, $2,500; Mary E. Seilling, 25x100 feet, on the west side of Pelgrim View street, $2,500; George A. Hazen, 25x91 feet, in the west side of Bernd street, $2,500; Alice Wrenn, 30x160 feet, on the north side of Montezuma street, $2,500; Milo L. Bowman, 30x100 feet, on the north side of Montezuma street, $3,500; George H. Tuckey, 30x100 feet, on the north side of Montezuma street, $4,000; Anna McCarthy, 25x100 feet, on the south side of Montezuma street, $4,000.

The other two houses were bought from Gilford P. Sweeny for $2,500 and $4,000 respectively. One stands on 25x100 feet on the north side of Eucenia street, near Michigan avenue, Thirty-eighth ward, and was sold to Robert Payne. The other is on a lot 24x100 feet at the southeast corner of Montezuma and Peint View streets, Twenty-first ward, and went to Martha L. Sala.

Realty Company Looking Ahead.

The Pittsburgh Real Estate Company, which was organized several months ago, has commissioned Architects Mueller & East to prepare plans for an office building in Forbes street, between Meyran and Atwood streets. The cost of the building is estimated at $60,000, but nothing will be done toward erecting it until next year.

Plans are being drawn by Architects Alden & Harlow for a brick and stone residence for James H. MacFarlane, to be erected in Woodland road, on a site lie recently bought.

The First National bank of Irwin has invited competitive plans for a building to cost $30,000. J. P. Taylor is president and T. F. Hyde is secretary of the building committee.

Architect Sidney F. Hecker is taking bids on a brick residence to be built for Martha F. Sankey in Trenton avenue, Wilkinsburg, at a cost of about $6,000.

E. E. Hoskinson will erect a three-story brick apartment building at Ross avenue and Wood street, Wilkinsburg, from plans by Architects A. & D. Prasse.

A second set of bids are being taken by Architect F. C. Sauer for a three-story building for Frank McCann in Masters way, near Fifth avenue.

Small Sales Around the City.

Frankstown road: John P. Rush sold for Harriet Jackson to W. S. Cramer a six-room house, lot 25x182 feet, in Frankstown road, just outside the city limits, for $2,600.

West Carson street: Joseph Marx sold to P. L. Bribbine to Calvin Wise of Apollo 11 lots, 22x100 feet each, in West Carnegie, for $3,850.

Allegheny: The Real Estate Savings and Trust Company sold for A. Y. Negley to W. H. Nichol, No. 2203 Perrysville avenue, a two-story frame house, lot 25x109 feet, for $4,400.

Wylie avenue: The Aronson Realty Company sold the E. C. Negley property at Wylie avenue and Erin street to Charles Woods for $6,000. It consists of a 10-room brick house, lot 24x75 feet.

Kearney street: The Columbia Realty Company sold for A. Fuchan to Morris Pearlman Nos. 1-3 Kearney street, four brick houses on lot 60x60 feet, for $5,000.

Craft avenue: M. J. Ehrenfeld of the Consolidated Real Estate Company sold to Harry J. Parker a lot 25x100 feet, on the north side of Craft avenue, for $1,000.

Center avenue: Solomon Arnold sold to Mollie E. Vaux an improved lot, 20x76 feet, on the north side of Center avenue, near Kirkpatrick street, for $2,000.

Horse Market.

Buying of horses for the season is about over, except for occasional sales which are to be met at all times of the year. Purchasers who buy largely are pretty well supplied now, and sellers are being actively employed than they were a month ago. It has been a good year for horse dealers, and considerable stock has been sold at profitable prices.

At the auction sale yesterday 100 head of horses of all grades were sold, returns showing the average of price to have been somewhat higher than the last Tuesday. Figures having a growing smaller for several weeks and no improvement is expected until September.

ANOTHER DECLINE IN OAT QUOTATIONS

Easier Conditions Rule Cereal Foods—Watermelon Market Overstocked.

Another decline occurred in local quotations for oats yesterday, the market going down 1 cent a bushel, influenced by liberal receipts and weaker conditions in the west. Weather and improved crop reports were factors in causing the market to become easier, while the good grading of oats in the west also added its force to the pressure bearing down the market. Corn continued steady here, and millfeed showed no change. Timothy hay is firm at quotations, new arriving in light quantities and selling at $10 50 to $12 for No. 1 grade. There is scarcely enough being received to make a market, offerings being limited to an occasional car.

Easier grain conditions are causing a weaker feeling to prevail in the market for cereal foods, although there is as yet no nominal decline in prices. Rolled oats continue to sell freely, the summer not making as much difference in the demand as it did several years ago, when consumption seemed to fall off during the warm months. Flour is steady as quoted, with concessions made only for most attractive orders. Bran is unchanged, and while some jobbers report a very heavy demand, others say the request is only moderate, andd not so great as might reasonably be expected. All agree that there is an increasing amount of business being done in this line, however, and the probability is that sugar demand will continue late into the fall this year, on account of the backwardness of the fruit season. Coffee is quiet. Canned foods are in the same condition as last reported, with corn strong and tomatoes weak. Dried fruits are unchanged.

Potatoes are plentiful, 100 cars being in the produce yard yesterday and quotations are easier. The top price from store is about $2 50 a barrel, and there is considerable selling for less. Cabbage is a drug in the market, and prices are much lower, while stock very hard to move. Tomatoes are fairly steady, with large numbers moving, quotations holding at figures last quoted. Beans, peas, squash and other vegetables are unchanged. Green corn is coming forward very slowly, offerings being light.

The market is overstocked with watermelons, and prices have gone away down. The cool weather which has prevailed for several days has caused request to fall off, and there is a very quiet condition now ruling. Cantaloupes are also abundant and lower in price, although there is a more active request for them than for watermelons. California peaches were in heavy supply yesterday, two cars arriving, and the market was lower. California apricots are about done, but there will be later supplies of this fruit soon from Oregon and Idaho, where crops do not mature until August. Liberal receipts of California pears are expected today, and lower prices will prevail.

Poultry is still scarce, and prices are firmer, quotations for all kinds being higher. Eggs, while springers remain unchanged. Receipts are very light and dealers are looking for supplies.

Butter is quiet at former quotations. Cheese is likely to go off unless there is a stiffening of demand. Eggs are weak, and are held to present quotations only by the loss experienced in handling stock.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania lines, 24 cars hay, 16 cars oats, 3 cars corn, 4 cars feed; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, 1 car hay, 4 cars oats; Baltimore & Ohio railroad, 6 cars hay; total receipts, 54 cars.

GRAIN MARKETS WERE HIGHER AT THE CLOSE

Chicago Pits All Ruled Firm With the Exception of Provisions.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, July 21.—With the exception of a little weakness at the start, due to free selling by Armour, under which September sold off from the opening 73¾@73½c to 73¾c, there was a firm undertone and prices showed a steady advance to 76¾c. Shorts covered freely and there was good buying both by commission houses and local traders, who were inclined to believe that the market had been pretty persistently hammered and that shorts' selling on the breaks had gone far enough. They were also encouraged by the moderately bullish tone of the weekly government crop bulletin and by a showing of primary receipts half a million bushels under last year. The market appeared to be oversold, and responded readily to the demand. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 50,000 bushels. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 273 cars, which with local receipts of 185 cars, 40 of contract grade, made a total for the three points of 354 cars, against 262 cars last week and 178 a year ago.

Corn showed greater firmness than wheat, and with a general good demand, offerings were at no time general. The close was strong at 2@2½c over the previous day's figures. Provision interests bought the deferred futures and shorts covered freely. Some late advices of crop damage from Iowa and Illinois were the strength. Charters of 300,000 bushels. Local contract stocks showed a decrease. The volume of business was large. Local receipts were 242 cars, with 82 of contract grade.

There was a good trade in oats, and prices responded some to the strength in other grains. Shorts with profits were the best buyers, but some of the advance was lost as the cash sellers by commission houses. Local receipts were 220 cars.

Provisions opened easy and sold off on selling by big locals on fair movement of hogs. Later there was a fair demand from brokers supposedly acting for the packers, and on this and the firmness in grains some of the loss was regained. September pork at the close showed a loss of 5c at $14 25. Lard was 7½c off at $7 85, with ribs down 2½c at $8 37½. Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 45 cars; corn, 160 cars; oats, 160 cars; hogs, 27,000 head.

COMPARISON IS VERY FAVORABLE

Statistics Show Big Jump in Production, Wages and Values in This State.

SALARIES HAVE DOUBLED

Industrial Report Shows Since 1896 Workers in Some Branches of Iron and Steel Industry Have Been Advanced 154.8 Per Cent.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, July 21.—Comparative figures between 1896 and 1902 have been made public in advance sheets of the report of the bureau of industrial statistics of 771 industrial establishments of the state. In 1896 these establishments employed 129,240 people. In 1902 208,927 persons were employed, or a gain of 57.3 per cent. From $43,430,808 paid in wages in 1896 they have continually increased until in 1902, $98,432,570 was expended. The market value of the production in 1896 was $185,249,628 as against $421,141,115 in 1902, or a gain of 127.5 per cent.

Of the steel industry the report says: "The production of steel has kept pace with the times, and added great wealth to Pennsylvania, having to its credit in 1902, 8,511,195 gross tons of steel as against a production in 1896 of 3,345,529 gross tons, or a gain of 154.4 per cent. The tonnage is made up as follows: Bessemer, 4,208,354 gross tons; open hearth basic and acid, 4,220,270 gross tons, and crucible and other processes, 82,562 gross tons.

"The capital invested in plants giving a rolled production, 1896, was $123,051,317, which has increased to $247,870,718 in 1902, or a gain of 99.9 per cent. The total wages paid, exclusive of office help and salaried men, was $60,721,836 in 1902, as against $33,334,787 in 1901, making a gain of 13.8 per cent. Total wages in 1896 was $23,852,628, which shows a gain of 154.8 per cent."

On the advance in the production of tin the report says: "The statistics show the capital invested for 1896 to be $3,627,275, while in 1902 there were $10,858,403 invested capital, or an increase of 199.4 per cent. The production was increased from 158,306,490 pounds in 1896 to 428,445,502 pounds in 1902, or an increase of 170.6 per cent. The value of tin plate manufactured in 1902 has increased $11,478,944 over 1896, or a gain of 247.5 per cent.

"In 1896 this state produced 4,026,350 gross tons of pig iron. This year's report shows a total tonnage of 8,111,642 gross tons, or a gain of 101.4 per cent. The value of the output of pig iron in 1896 was $45,172,629, which with the increased tonnage and the advance in price shows a total value in 1902 of $126,857,231, or a gain of 185.5 per cent, or nearly three times as much in the seven years."

WILL NOT IMPROVE PROPERTY OF THE CHURCH

Representative of Trinity Argues Before Viewers on Widening of Virgin Alley.

Arguments were begun yesterday before the board of viewers in the matter of widening Virgin alley. W. R. Blair, Esq., appeared for the Trinity church vestry. He first entered a protest to the manner of the board making the schedule of damages and benefits, saying he might want to follow up the protest in court. The damages claimed by the church people amount to about $200,000. Mr. Blair said he wanted the board to bear in mind that it was Sixth avenue and not Virgin alley property and that its value is because of the former fact. It has been used for a hundred years and will be so used for a hundred to come, its value for anything else, he held, could not be considered. He did not want to say, he advanced the argument that as the object of widening the alley was to relieve the congestion in other streets, then those benefited in that way should be considered and the burden of improvement not all be placed upon the abutting property. He intimated, too, that it would not be fair to put a tax on light and air as a benefit to the church because the street is to be widened.

E. H. Shannon appeared for the First Presbyterian church, and he also filed a protest to the manner of making up the schedule of benefits and damages. His only argument was on the legality of that proceeding.

S. B. Mitchell was heard in behalf of J. F. Logue, a tenant in Liberty avenue. He argued for the right of a leaseholder whose contention is that the contemplated improvement will not improve his holding, but will practically destroy a part of his business.

FIREWORKS A FEATURE.

Displays Representing $1,000 Each Will Be Fired Every "Pompeii" Night.

A notable feature of each performance of Pain's "Last Days of Pompeii" spectacle, which comes to Exposition park for 12 nights, commencing Monday, July 27, is the $1,000 display of Manhattan Beach fireworks. The nightly fireworks program includes over 250 pieces and embraces several aerial and aquatic novelties and huge, beautiful set pieces exhibited by no other firm. Were there no other attraction to "Pompeii" but the fireworks, the spectacle would still be worth going far to see.

Special tickets will be set aside for the attendance of well-known organizations and societies, who, upon application to Thomas F. Kirk, amusement manager for Elks lodge No. 11, will be assigned a block of seats in the most desirable part of the stand. A special feature of appropriate character and significance will be given on each of these nights.

J. B. Shale Escaped the Hotel Fire in Nome by a Day.

J. B. Shale, president of the Publishers' Press association, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday from Nome, Alaska. Mr. Shale left Nome on the evening of July 4, and R. M. Hayes of this city, who was burned to death in the terrible hotel conflagration on July 5, was one of the last persons he saw before departing. Mr. Shale was in Nome inspecting the property of the Cripple River Hydraulic Mining Company, in which he is interested.

Mr. Shale became acquainted with Mr. Hayes and his party while there. He stayed at the Golden Gate hotel, which was burned down. It was the morning after Mr. Shale's departure that the fire occurred and Mr. Shale knew nothing of the fate that had overtaken the Pittsburghers until his arrival here yesterday morning.

Boy Burned Barn and Himself.

LANCASTER, PA., July 21.—Playing with matches in a hay mow this afternoon, Edgar Bonham, aged 4, son of John Bonham of Millersville, started a fire in which he was burned to death.

HENKEL ASKS $151,000.

Ferry Street Merchant Wants Wabash to Pay Big Sum for His Property.

A statement of the plaintiff's claim was filed yesterday in common pleas court No. 3 in the suit of John Henkel against the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western Railroad Company, an action resulting from the condemnation of the plaintiff's property in Ferry street to permit the entrance of the Wabash system into the city.

The plaintiff's claim aggregates $151,000; $130,000 of this is represented by the building and property used by him as a dealer in agricultural implements, $20,000 compensation for being compelled to move, damage to stock and loss sustained by interruption of his business, and $1,000 for fixtures, etc., that were in the building when the railroad took possession in April last. On May 18 last Henkle petitioned the court for the appointment of viewers. The report of the viewers was made on July 11 and confirmed by the court. Henkle appealed on July 18.

Judge J. W. Over in orphans court distributed a legacy of $463.30 in the Jennie M. Henderson estate, which the decedent intended leaving to the home mission board of the United Presbyterian church, among 10 cousins.

The decision is based on the fact that the decedent died on the day the will was made, the legacy becoming void unless the law which requires a period of 30 days to elapse between the making of a will and the death of a person making a bequest to a charitable institution.

John W. McIntyre, late of Corsopolis, disposes of a $6,000 estate by leaving it all to his wife, Hannah McIntyre, with the exception of a $5 bequest to his daughter, Jennie May McIntyre, and a similar amount to his son, W. C. McIntyre, which he says: "I regard as their full share."

LEGAL BRIEFS.

The master in the suit of Annie B. Douglas against Samuel O. Douglas, has recommended a decree in divorce on the ground of desertion.

Action was brought by Mary J. Blackburn and others against the West Side Belt Railroad Company to recover $100,000. The statement sets forth that the defendant company appropriated about six acres of the plaintiff's land in the construction of its line.

The following executions were issued yesterday: Stremberg & Levin vs. Ruben Monheim, $106.33; Jane E. Craig vs. John P. Petersonn $1,611.22; Tamison Williams vs. Joseph H. Smith, $327.05; E. Goldburg vs. Sarah Callery Hall, $124; M. H. Tuckering vs. Mary Milan, $209.11.

The Pennsylvania railroad filed a bill in equity against the borough of Aspinwall, James Shaner, John G. Welderich, Samuel R. McMorren and P. H. McCrum, members of council, asking the court to restrain them from interfering in the construction of the plaintiff's tracks in that borough opposite the brilliant station.

Suit was entered by Evaline Thomas against Dr. R. H. Morrell for $2,000. She alleges her health has been greatly injured by the professional treatment given her by the physician in the use of an electric battery that accelerated her complaint and which she avers was given her without the proper examination of her condition being made by the physician. A capias was issued and bail in the sum of $300 demanded.

BLOOD HUMOURS

Skin Humours, Scalp Humours, Hair Humours,

Whether Simple Scrofulous or Hereditary

Speedily Cured by Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills.

Complete External and Internal Treatment, One Dollar.

In the treatment of torturing, disfiguring, itching, scaly, crusted, pimply, blotchy and scrofulous humours of the skin, scalp and blood, with loss of hair, Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills have been wonderfully successful. Even the most obstinate of constitutional humours, such as bad blood, scrofula, inherited and contagious humours, with loss of hair, grandular swellings, ulcerous patches in the throat and mouth, sore eyes, copper-coloured blotches, as well as boils, carbuncles, scurvy, sties, ulcers and sores arising from an impure or impoverished condition of the blood, yield to the Cuticura Treatment, when all other remedies fail.

And greater still, if possible, is the wonderful record of cures of torturing, disfiguring humours among infants and children. The suffering which Cuticura Remedies have alleviated among the young, and the comfort they have afforded worn-out and worried parents, have led to their adoption in countless homes as priceless curatives for the skin and blood. Infantile and birth humours, milk crust, scalled head, eczema, rashes and every form of itching, scaly, pimply skin and scalp humours, with loss of hair, of infancy and childhood, are speedily, permanently and economically cured when all other remedies suitable for children, and even the best physicians, fail.
